Remembering 1980 Summer Vacation

What's special about summer? Other than freedom from school, THS students appreciate the freedom to experience variety; working at jobs, visiting other countries, and meeting new people.

Freshman Paul Saini enjoyed meeting and lunching with President Carter during the 1980 summer. "I wrote him a letter and he invited me to lunch!" exclaimed Saini.

For some THS students summer meant working and earning extra cash. Remembering his summer job, Senior Brian Machado commented, "I was just doing what I was told to do." Senior Kenny King described his job, that, "If you like wet feet you'll like washing cars."

Meanwhile, some THS students spent money rather than earning it this summer. Trooping across Europe and commanded by chaperon/teacher Doug Adams, THS students visited numerous countries. Reactions to the trip? Students enjoyed a new sense of freedom and concluded, "Getting away! That's what was special about Europe!"

Expressions Show THS Individuality

Silly expressions-frustrated ones-zany and intense expressions-all constantly light up faces of THS students and faculty. Alert photographer captured varying moods and behavior on and off campus, proving that people watching ranks high among favorite activities.

Blue and Gold Spirit

It's Friday. Bathed in blue and gold, the rally court abounds in pom pon, football players, and cheerleaders. "There's a lot more spirit this year than there was last year. People seem to enjoy rallies more and there is a better turn out," stated junior rallygoer Stacy Johnson.

Varsity cheerleader Rhonda Wright summed up THS spirit in this way: "The rallies seem to be a success this year. (They should be for all the work we put into them!) QB Jeff Trussler appreciated rallies, for "they get the team fired up!"

People Concentrate During Classtime

Sooner or later, everyone has to study, and a quick glance around THS classes revealed intent, studious faces. Working with new computers, questioning a grade or wondering, "Where did I put those glasses?" students worked to finish assignments.

Sports; Competing to be Outstanding

No doubt about it! Sports play an essential role at Turlock High School. Whether students compete individually or as a team, they strive continually to achieve "the thrill of victory" and avoid "the agony of defeat."

Students found that intense concentration was necessary while competing. Waterskier Pat Washburn preferred morning practice, for he noted, "You can concentrate better without all the boats around." Exclaimed JV football player Steve Vilkofsky, "You have got to give 100% all the time! The other guy will stop concentrating—he'll let up, and that is when you've got him."

Break time, Lunch time, work time...

...Anytime is the right time for THS'ers to be out of class and on the go. Don't expect to see students only in class, for outside activities draw many away from routine class schedules. Commented Steve Carskaddon while chugging down milk during brunch, "The best part of the day? Break time of course!"

FFA anticipates, prepares for Fair

Investing weeks and months of time, FFA students prepare their various entries for the Stanislaus County Fair.

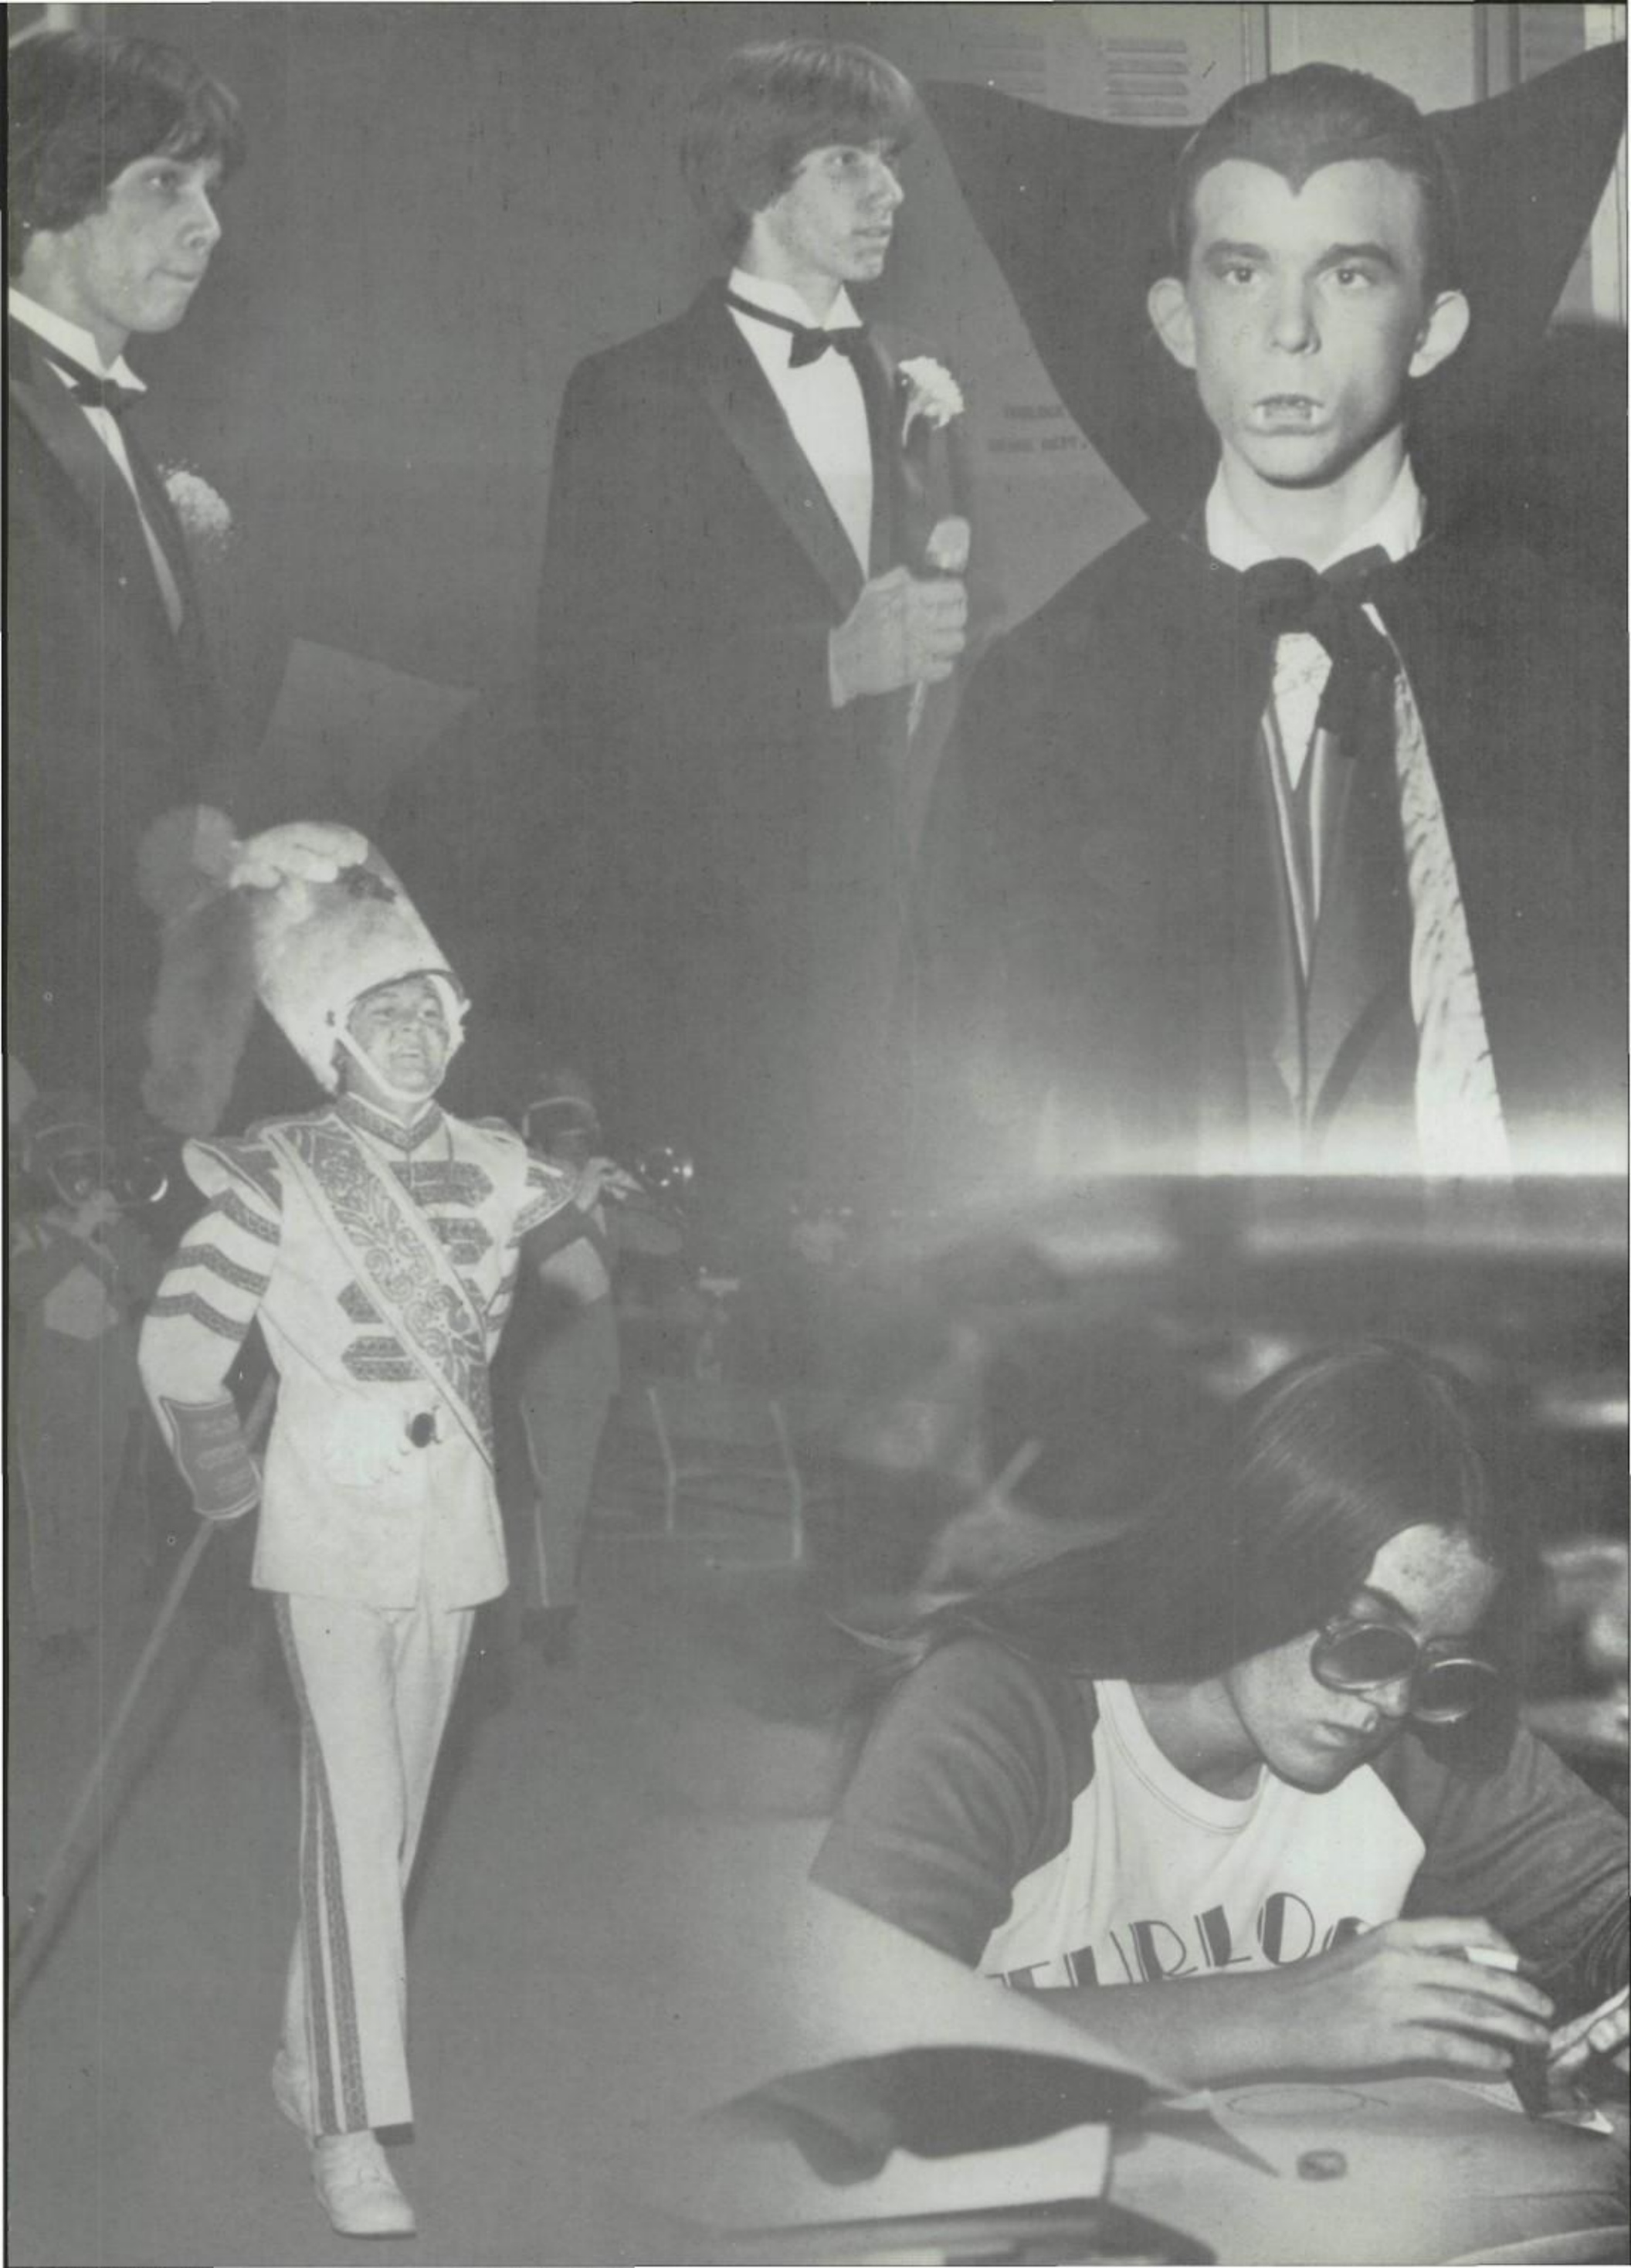

All breed champion, Jackie Souza exclaimed, "I worked the whole summer with my animals to prepare them for the fair and it paid off with my Grand Champ."

Work affects people differently. Steve Miguel felt overworked and agreed that the fair "takes a lot out of you-so I slept on my cow!"

Mr. Silva, FFA advisor at THS concluded that, "in order for students to show their animals at the fair, you must be an FFA member of a chapter."

Council discusses; Medicareers listen

Beginning with a bang or at least a small crash, President Curtis Marez commented, "I feel the Student Council has helped make THS a more bearable institution."

In an attempt to meet the council's goals, the Student Advisory Board was established. It consisted of students of various races and creeds, offering input on many issues which arose during the year. In general council members were concerned over growing student apathy, but had not yet discovered solutions for the problems.

Meanwhile, the Medicareers continued having meetings every second Monday of the month at Emanuel Hospital, to concentrate on offering students a chance to explore different medical fields. Member Marcy Paulson appreciated the practical aspects of the club, especially "being able to hear the actual employee and how he works at his job."

Orators triumph

Bringing home twelve trophies before Christmas the Speech team was off to a terrific start. At the first invitational held they took second in Sweepstakes. Head coach, David Jack stated, "People sometimes don't understand how academic work could be fun, but it is." Varsity members John Tuman and Curtis Marez placed first at Stockton Invitational and Kim Doo and Alan Geddes took second.

What is J.S.A.? According to advisor Steve Aristotelous "J.S.A. prepares young people for political activities." Diane Crow and Christine Johnson moderated a debate in the fall convention, while Roxanne Luis debated individually. In their spring convention, J.S.A. chose the officers for the following year. Expressed member, Diane Crow, "J.S.A. gives you a chance to meet different people from different places."

FFA Prepares

What's FFA anyway? According to A.J. Silva, the organization's advisor, "FFA functions to prepare students for agriculture and agribusiness careers for tomorrow." An Alert staffer asked the same question to members, receiving the following answers; "It gives us the chance to let Mr. Silva show us his many abilities in farming techniques," exclaimed junior Ed Sai. Junior Jolene Enos responded with, "in our agriculture classes we study new techniques and ideas on how we can produce a higher quality and a larger quantity of commodities. I think the most enjoyable part about FFA is the fact that we're always having fun."

Alert scrambles to meet deadlines

Copy deadlines. Picture deadlines. "Where's the type sheet?" "You want this spread done by when?" Organized confusion tends to characterize the Alert staff, and 1981 was no exception. Reviewing the year, Ass't Editor Suzette Sims said, "The editors made most of the decisions because our new advisor hadn't had much experience, and was willing to listen to our suggestions." Concluded advisor Karen Finke, "It's never boring. Frustrating and confusing, but boring? Never!"

The editors would like to thank the following people for their help in producing the 1981 Alert: Al Motoyama, Coronet Studios; Cindy Peterson, Turlock Journal; Steve Browning; and Brian Parks for their faithful photography assistance. Our special thanks also goes to Tom Larson, our Herff Jones representative, for answering all our questions.

Campus Times fades as Clarion returns

With the new school year, Clarion experienced many changes. Clarions new advisor Sandra Jernigan, helped persent a student oriented format. Lack of previous financial support to Campus Times caused all local high schools to run each newspaper independently.

Students benefited from the changes as advisor Mrs. Jernigan stated, "The newspaper this year will be student oriented. This year has been a challenged for all, advisor and students." Clarion staff member Andy Nicastro commented, "The class is confusion and headaches at times, but when each issue of the Clarion comes out, it's all worth it."

German, MAYO search roots

German is more than Der Die und Das. It is where the action is! German club members had opportunities to use their language skills this year as they staged the annual Oktoberfest, wrote to German penpals and even had a Gingerbread House contest. Club advisor, Frau Rector, also provided jobs for interested THS students in Switzerland. Learning how to speak German provided many opportunities for students to use their language skill if planning a trip to a German speaking country such as Austria, Switzerland and, of course, Germany.

Nominating both a male and a female president, the MAYO club began the year positively. "I think this is the best organized year," commented club member Angela Porras and attributed success to club advisor, Pat Weiglein. The Mexican American students at THS planned many activities this year including a field trip to Marriots and fund raisers.

THS clubs abound

"Service to the community, nation and world, is the objective of the Interact club," stated advisor Wayne Hinds. Interact, a little brother organization to the adult Rotary club, assisted many local projects, and provided aid to people of India.

"It's my great honor and pleasure to serve as advisor," exclaimed Malcolm Eddy, Assyrian-American Club. Organized by THS adm. in 1979, the newly formed club held special senior graduation ceremonies and picnics during the year.

Also new to THS clubs was the Spanish club with advisor Pat Weiglein. The club's new-new limited activities, but Cinco de Mayo was celebrated as advisor Weiglein concluded, "I enjoy working with other cultures."

"We sell candy and go to S.F. for the day," stated Smock and Tam member Valerie Burris. Besides the annual museum tour, members enjoyed the club itself and concluded that "Smock and Tam is a great club to get in if you like art."

Drama presents horror, comedy

1980-1981 Drama club members breathed a grateful sigh of relief upon completing the stiff requirements necessary to join the elite Thespians. In addition to working one hundred study hours, drama students performed in two plays in order to attain Thespian membership. Studying all forms of acting, from serious drama to horror and comedies, Thespians viewed their craft seriously and hoped perhaps to be the next Robert Redford or Jane Fonda. Each Halloween, together with the drama club, the Thespians constructed the hair-raising Haunted Maze, which ran five nights providing sheer terror and fright. Other performances included the famous mystery comedy, Arsenic and Old Lace, and plans were made for a spring musical.

Linda's leprechauns campaign for pres.

Green clovers and pots of gold, a very appropriate way to spend a weekend in March. That's exactly how the THS leprechauns spent their time at the Junior Leadership Conference at Asilomar, while head leprechaun Linda Winkler ran for President of the Conference. "Going to Asilomar was a wonderful experience. It was a great place to meet new people and go crazy. I'll never forget it," exclaimed senior Kate Smurr.

"S" club is an excellent way to get involved in various school and community activities. "It allowed an individual to meet many new and different people," exclaimed Allison Yotsuya, president of the club. Working in co-operation with Asilomar, the 'S' club worked with the YMCA, held new student orientation, ran in the jog-a-thon, "Running with the Sun", put on the annual fashion show, and sold brownies to raise money for the club.

CSF visits U.C.'s, as AFS increases

"Many students are qualified but don't apply," stated CSF advisor Dorothy Lochner. "It's really a shame considering when you're a life member of CSF you have many advantages during and after high school."

Present day advantages included field trips to U.C. Santa Cruz and U.C. Berkeley; member Cari Crivelli appreciated this "change to see different colleges and meet different people." Life members received special recognition at graduation, and extra opportunities for scholarships.

AFS membership was on the rise this year, as THS welcomed Argentina foreign exchange student John Shoobridge. Turlock's Sally Channing was AFS summer candidate to Japan, and Kathy Maurer spent her summer in Turkey. Why join AFS? "It's a way to meet people from different places," stated Sonja Sondeno. Phanatics phlaunt Phil, excite phans

Adding to the traditional cheerleaders, matmaids, and songleaders, "Phil's Phanatics" emerged out of the T.H.S. rally court to arouse crowds and bring smiles to hoop fans.

"We just thought we would form a fan club for Phil Niebuhr (T.H.S. basketball player) and get a little crazy," expressed Phanatic president Gary Woods. The Phanatics made their appearance at home games dressed in an array of different outfits. Their wardrobe ranged from Kamikaze pilots to boot camp trainees.

"I feel that the Phanatics were a great support to the Turlock High basketball program, and without them, we would just be another basketball team," said junior hoopster, Robert Christopher.

Larson crowned as 1980 queen

The crowd was silent in anticipation for the verdict. The drums rolled, then came a wailing voice through the microphone-Tina Larson! Yes, Tina Larson was chosen as Turlock High's 1980 Homecoming Queen.

Miss Larson was chosen over nine other candidates by the Turlock High football squad. Kara Allen and Paula Balswick were selected as first and second runners up respectively.

"I was really surprised," stated Miss Larson, "I really feel it is a great honor, and I will never forget this experience." A song leader, Miss Larson also was active in Smock and Tam, while participating in Alert.

Other candidates were Rhonda Wright, Denise Green, Dana Christensen, Danette Wilkey, Willow Burmania, Kathy Hanson and Jerilyn George.

Anticipation grows at queen coronation

Whether fall, winter, or spring, THS queen coronations followed expected and time-honored traditions: the presentation of candidates, the drum roll, mounting anticipation, and finally the inevitable, hoped for announcement: "And the winner is..." Once announced, the smiling and/or surprised faces emerge from the side door.

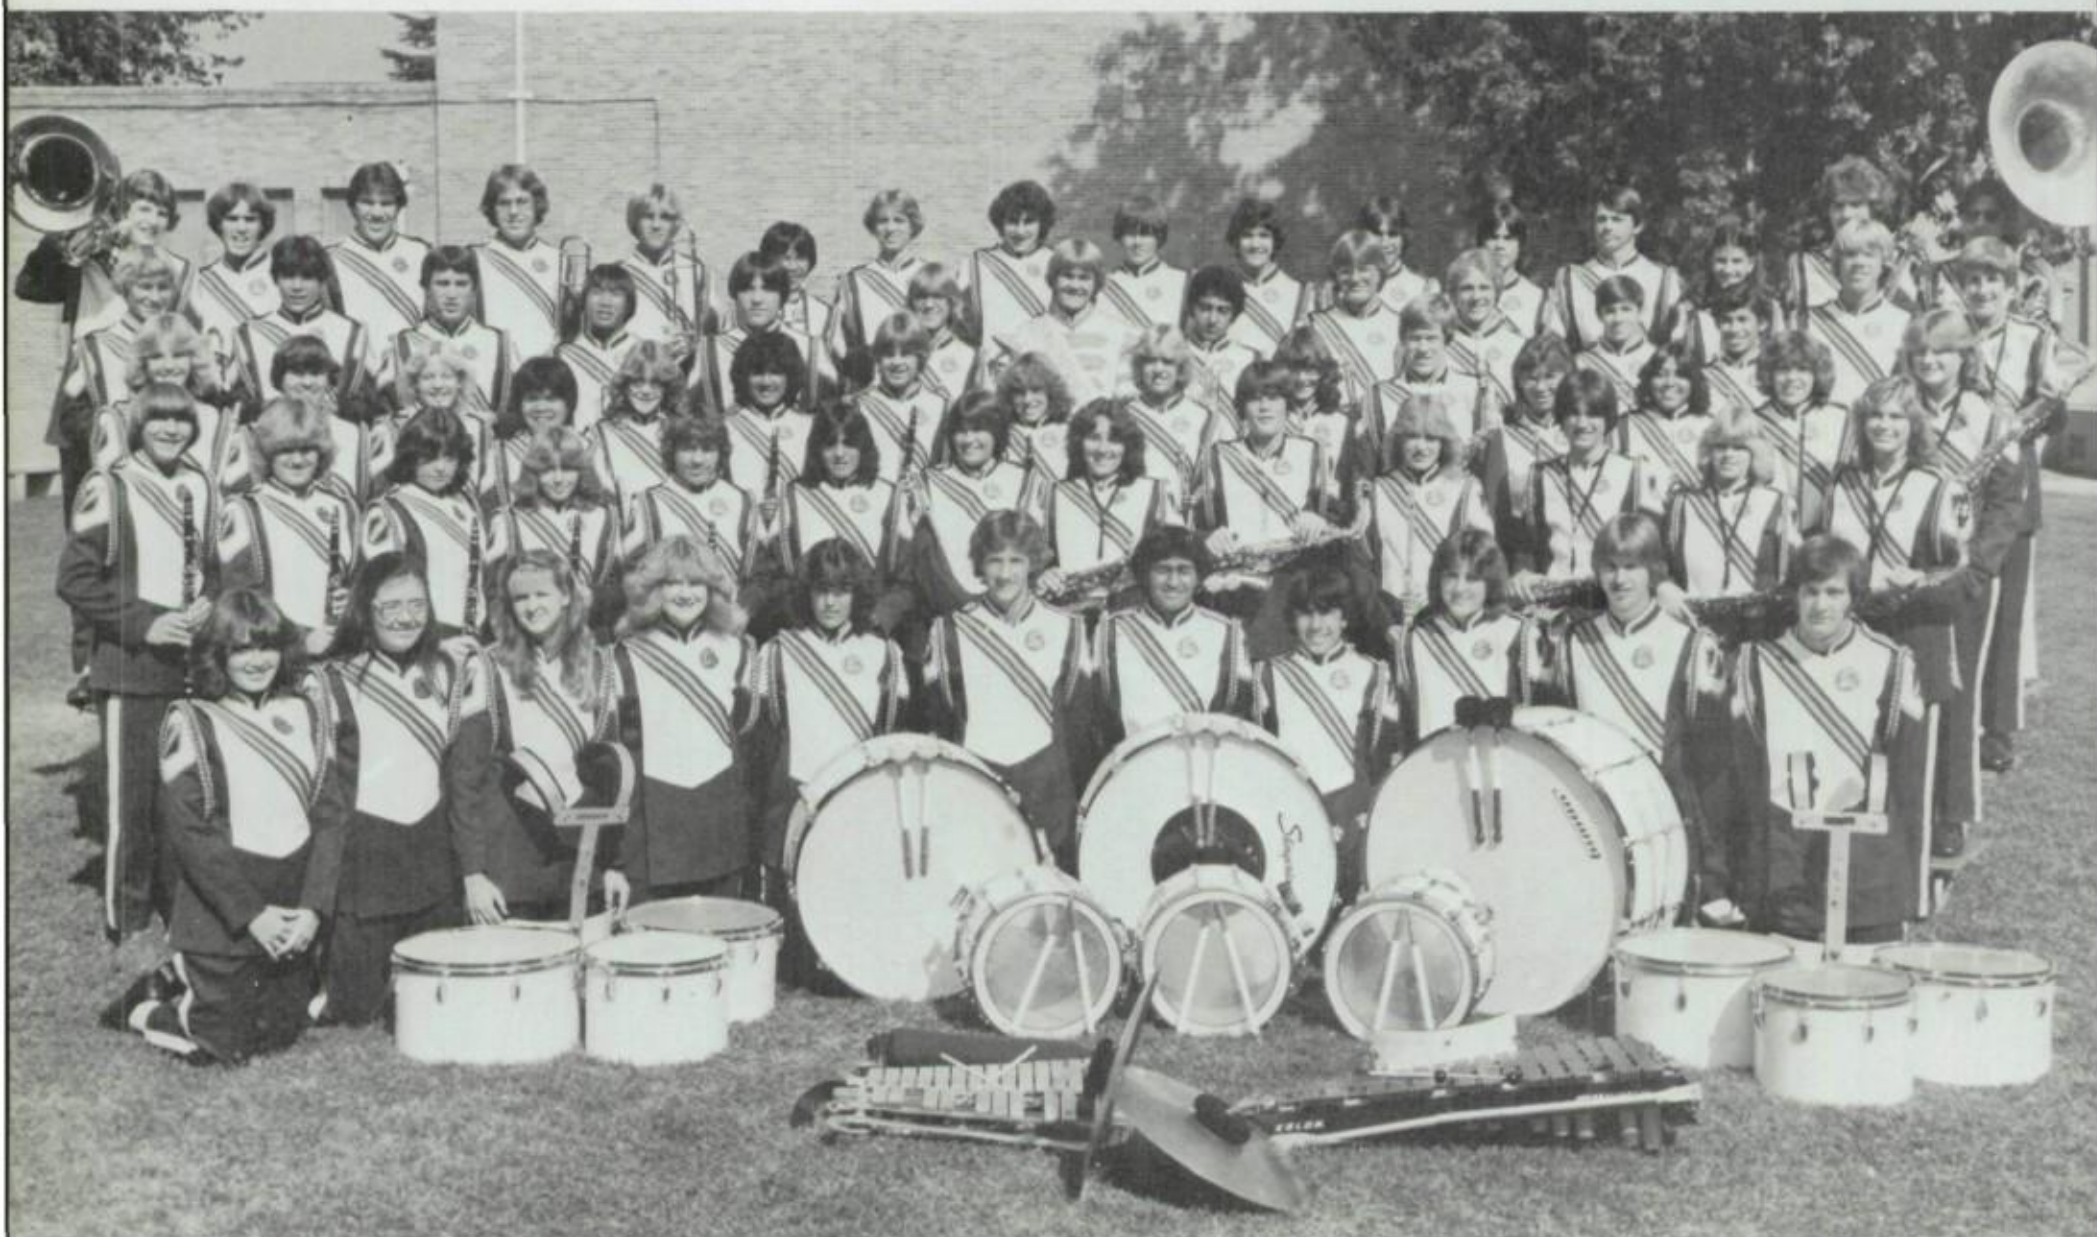

For both queen and attendants, the day is a special one. Perhaps Kathy Hanson summed it up best when the 1980 Spring Sports Queen exclaimed, "I was totally surprised and honored to have received the title! This is something I'll always cherish."

Band thrills crowds with winning shows

THS Marching band provided 1980-81 sports fans with spectacular halftime shows, complete with music and flag twirling along with colorguard drill routines. In addition to capturing a first place trophy at the East-West Shrine game for two consecutive years, the band took second at the Selma competition and first at the Monterey Park Parade. Instructor Kuykendall praised Falk stating, "Delwyn is the best drum major THS has had in eleven years."

Musicians jam

Between playing at rallies and giving special performances at elementary schools, Turlock High's jazz band and orchestra supplied enough music to keep Turlock's music lovers happy.

The twenty-one member jazz band, headed by Val Kuykendall, displayed their talents at all THS rallies, away football games and home basketball games. "I really love to see the crowd go wild when we play," remarked Richie Smith.

Orchestra members play for many elementary schools, along with their concerts. All members launched their careers in grade school or junior high, and usually like returning to former schools to perform. "Once you start in elementary school, your parents just don't let you quit, but I guess it's for the best," concluded violinist Wayne Babb.

Hawaii greets choir with warm welcome

Forty voices- altos, sopranos, basses, baritones, and tenors- exulted triumphantly, filling the air with joyous song. Under the direction of Ted Dixon, Concert Choir and Treble Clef delighted audiences around the community and abroad. Last summer, Concert Choir members flew to Hawaii for a ten day tour and entertained the islanders. Jim Blair commented, "The people were great! It was like we were friends for a long time; they would often visit us and take us to various parts of the island."

Beginning the year with their annual church tour, Concert Choir also performed for other high schools and colleges in the area, for holiday concerts, and competed in the Stanislaus County Honor Choir. Repeating the success of 1980, the choir held its second annual Luau of the Year. To complete the year, the Concert Choir embarked on a spring tour in May.

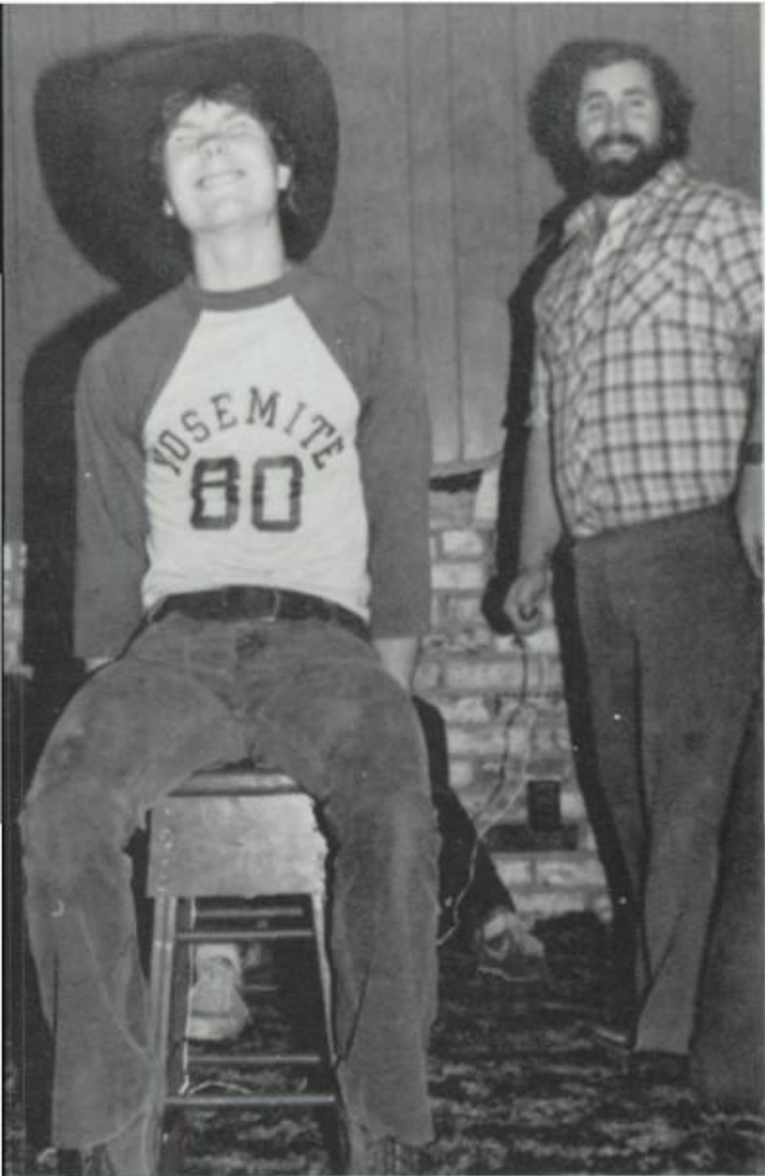

THS club grows

Why do you go to Campus Life? Alert staffers asked members of THS fast growing group, receiving the following responses. "Campus Life is a great way to get together with your friends and have a good time," exclaimed Charlie Dragna. Beginning the year with the annual Burger Bash, Campus Life regular activities included weekly meetings and Bible Studies. Special events ranged from snow and ski retreats, Christian rock concerts, and a three day New Years party.

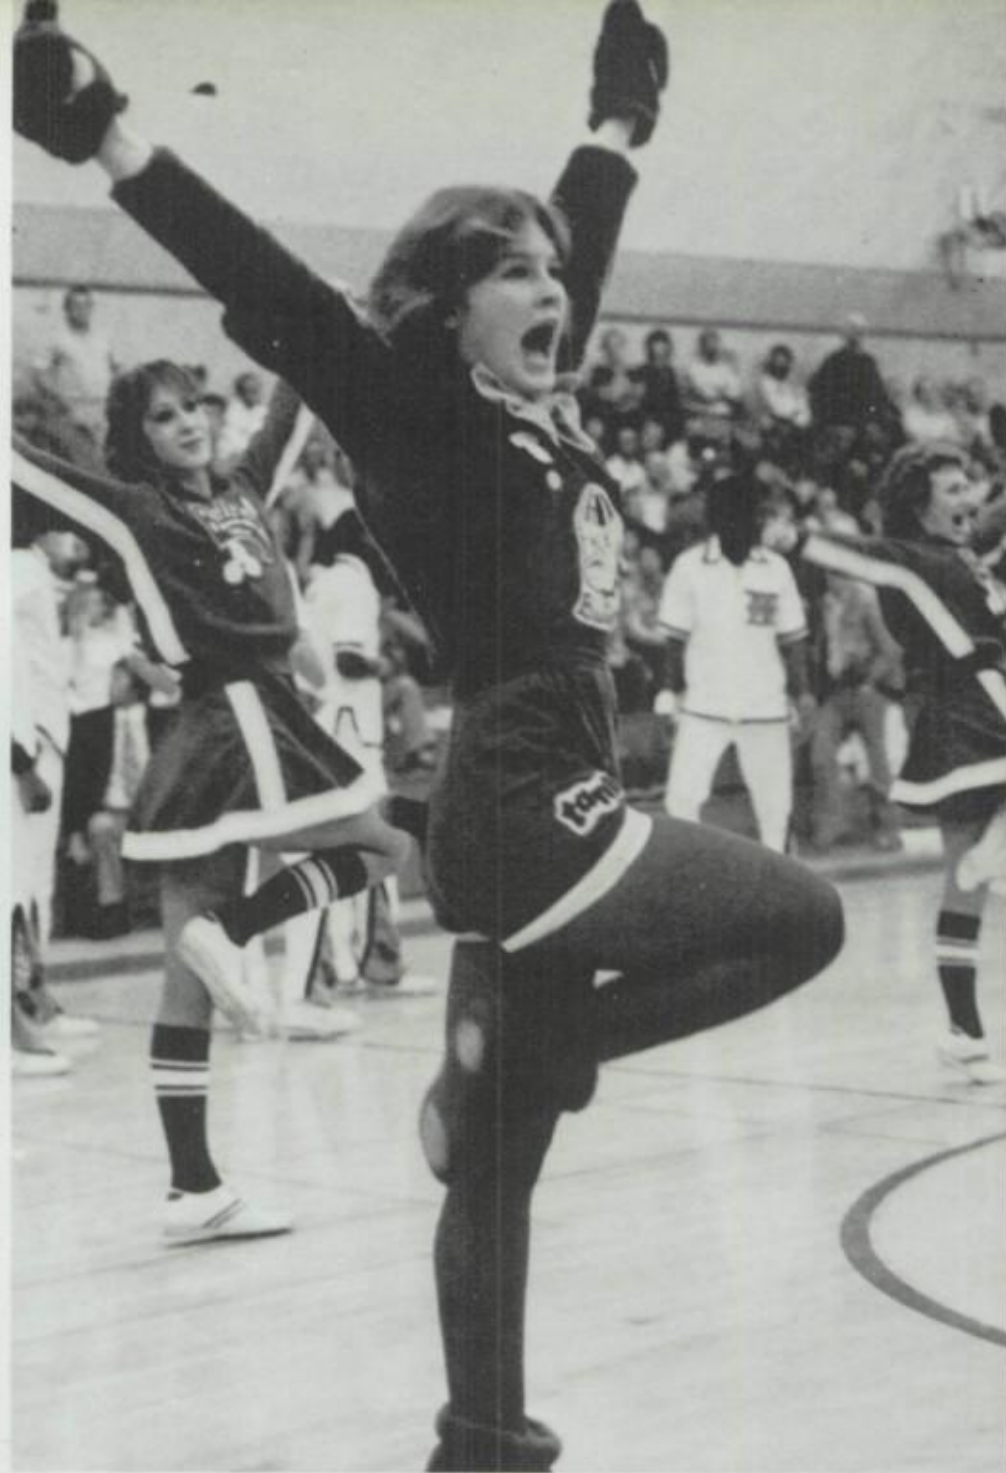

Star Gazers maintained their look at the heavens, as they met on clear nights at the THS observatory.

Mascots cheer but Boosters struggle

"Being a mascot gives me the chance to be crazy in front of thousands of football fans without being recognized," exclaimed Juanita Thomason. Straying from tradition, THS student body elected two sets of mascots for both fall and winter sports instead of the usual one set. This was just one of the many changes. Their comical antics promoted spirit among football and basketball fans, causing an outbreak of laughter to be heard from the stands.

Rally Commissioners Jeff Hendrick and Vince Avila found their 1980-1981 position a frustrating one. Lack of cooperation, appreciation and general school spirit tended to damper the dynamic duo's hopes. "I thought the school would be bursting with spirit," stated a sadder but wiser Vince Avila. "Boy, was I wrong." As parting advice to Rally Commissioner hopefuls, Jeff Hendrick concluded, "Get people organized now. Don't wait until the last minute."

Pep squad works, faces hard season

"We had a great time cheering this year. It's just too bad that we couldn't have won more games," expressed senior cheerleader Danette Wilkey. "I wish the student body would have supported our team more; they didn't seem very loyal," commented head cheerleader Paula Balswick.

The pep squads did well this year, receiving superior ribbons in every division and a superior trophy at U.S.A. cheer and song summer camp. Placing second in the large division, the songleaders received the highest honor ever given to a THS songleading squad.

"I don't think people realize how much we have to practice during the summer to be ready for the first game," explained senior songleader Kara Allen. "I really had a lot of fun this summer at practices, getting to know the other songleaders. I'm gonna miss them next year," mentioned head songleader Denise Green.

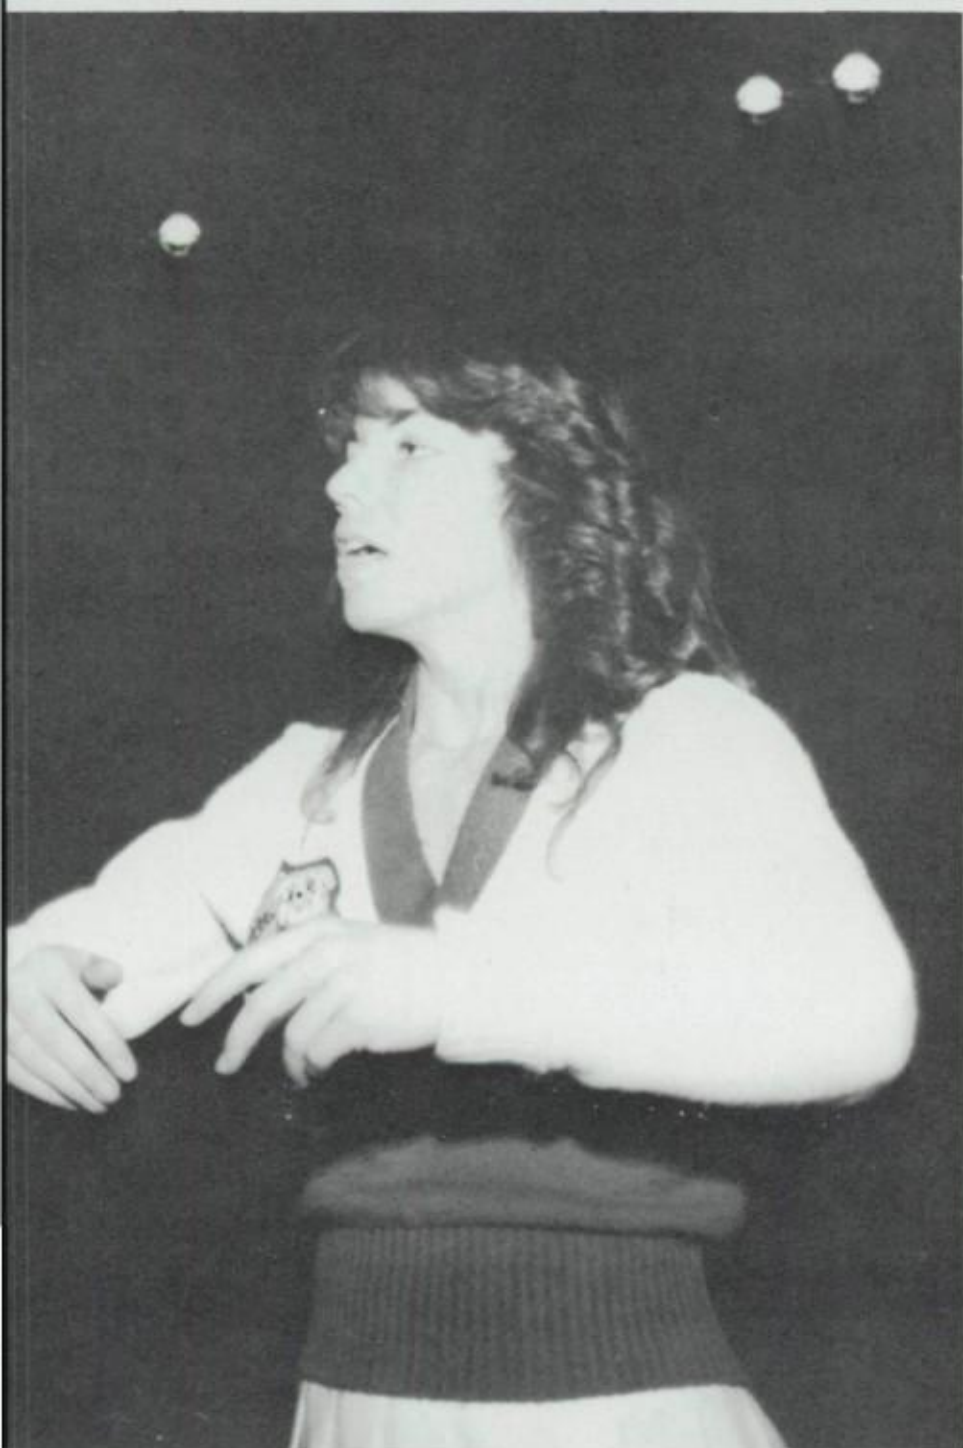

Cager pep squad inspires team mates

Throughout the gym the enthusiastic yells of basketball pep squad could be heard, inspiring cagers to extraordinary heights. Becoming a basketball song or cheerleader required a great amount of time practicing, going over drills. "If you're not willing to spend the time, what's the use? Although it's hard going to all the practices, it's worth it," pointed out sophomore cheerleader Shelly Cline. "Being a cheerleader, you get to show that you have spirit for your school, to show you represent your school and are proud of it," she concluded.

Basketball allowed its pep squad to be closer to the action. "Because you're right in front of them, you can see everything. And it's also nice having a winning team!" exclaimed Celia Frahm.

T.H.S. Colorguard practice long hours

"We love the larger groups; they lend color and excitement, not to mention variety to the half time show," expressed instructor Sammy Nelson. Greater participation characterized T.H.S. colorguard this year. Performances include everything from kick line drill to Greek dances. "We had practices every Tuesday from 5:30 to 8:30, and you don't miss practice unless you're on your death bed," exclaimed Karen Parolini.

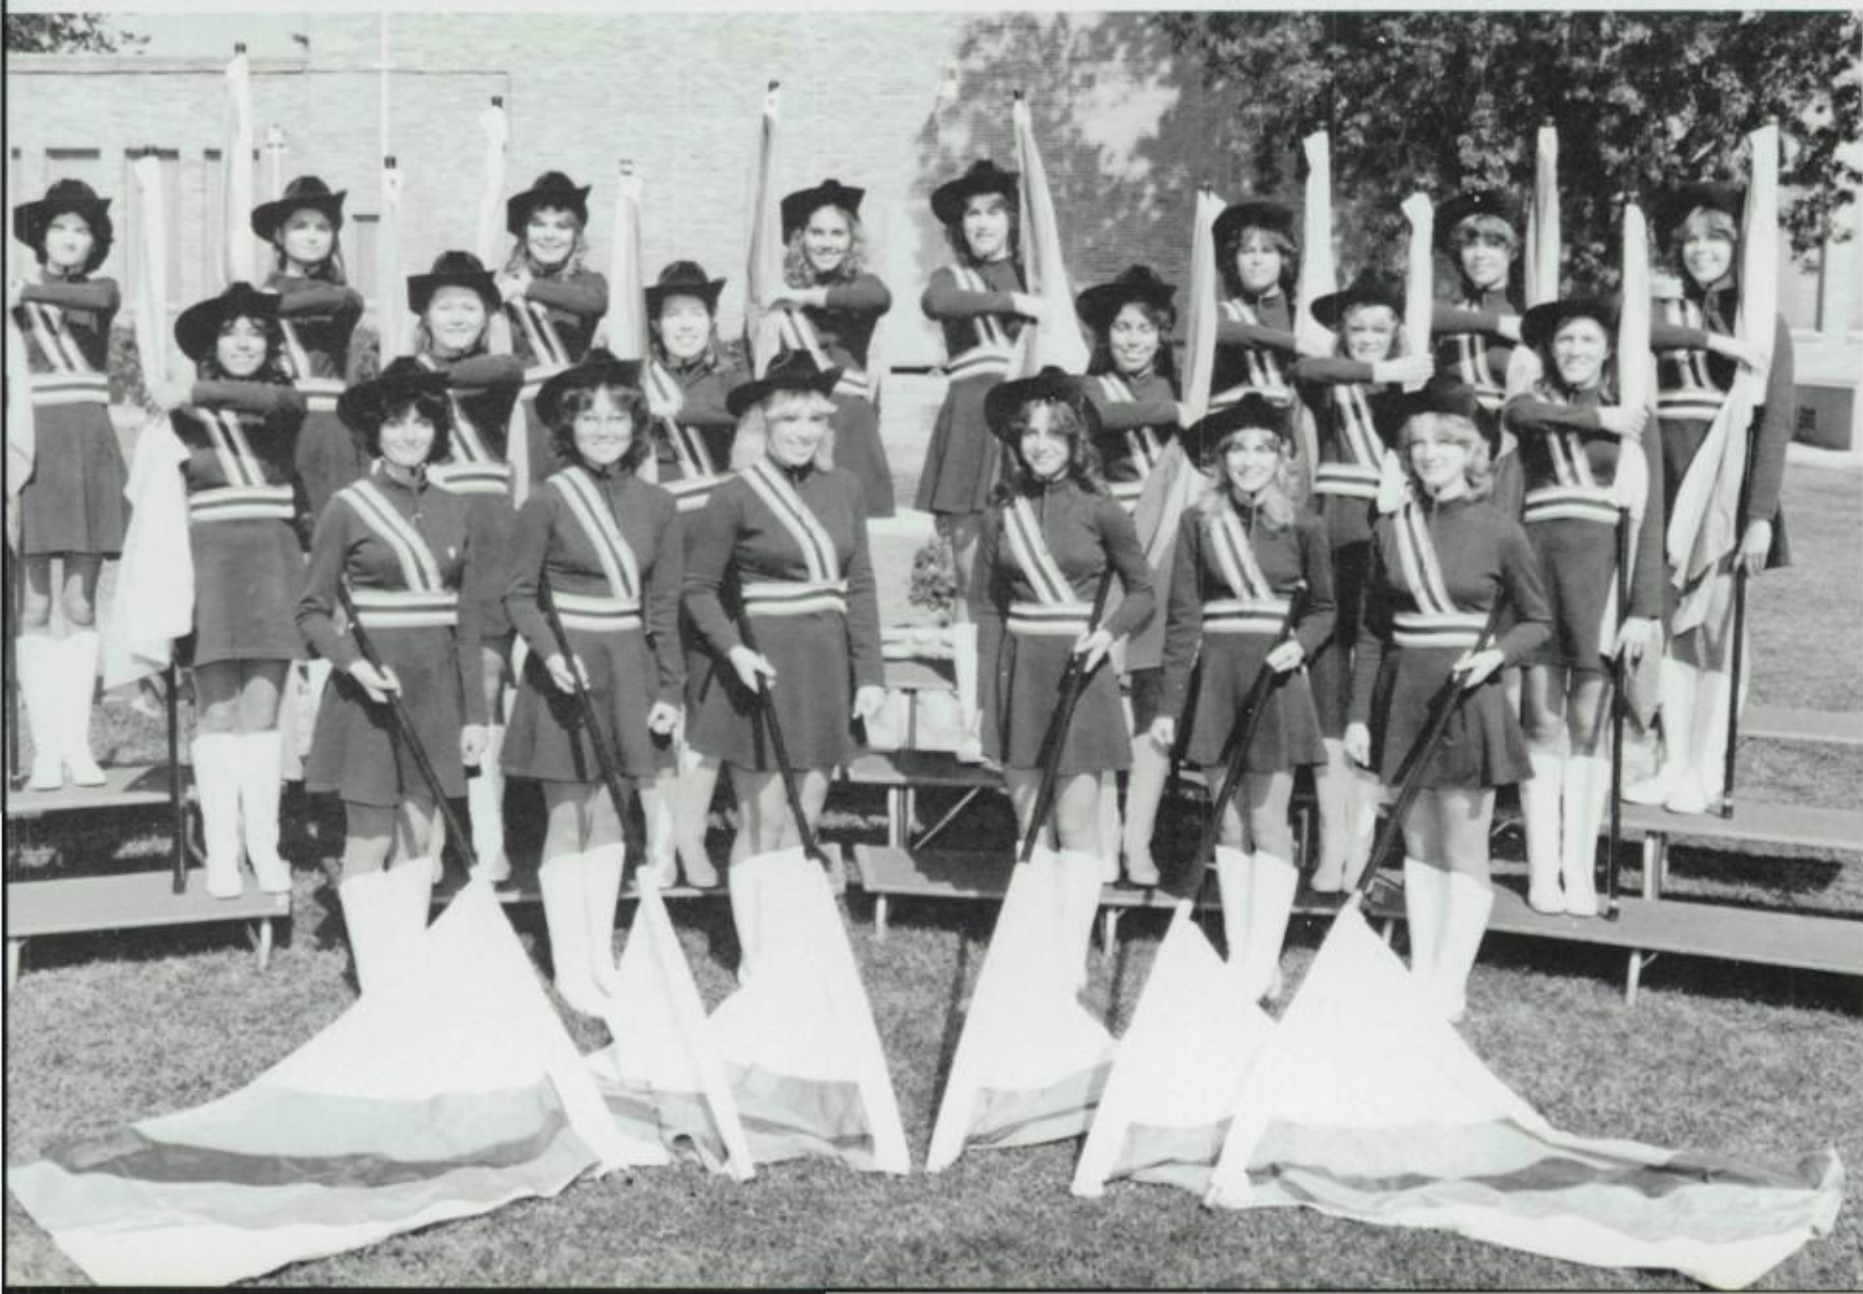

T.H.S. colorguard placed higher than any previous group at T.H.S., receiving a third place at Modesto and second in Selma. "Being in colorguard means being coordinated, patient, alert, and most of all being a member of a large family," commented rifle twirler Sharon Ivanoff.

THS secretaries describe THS life

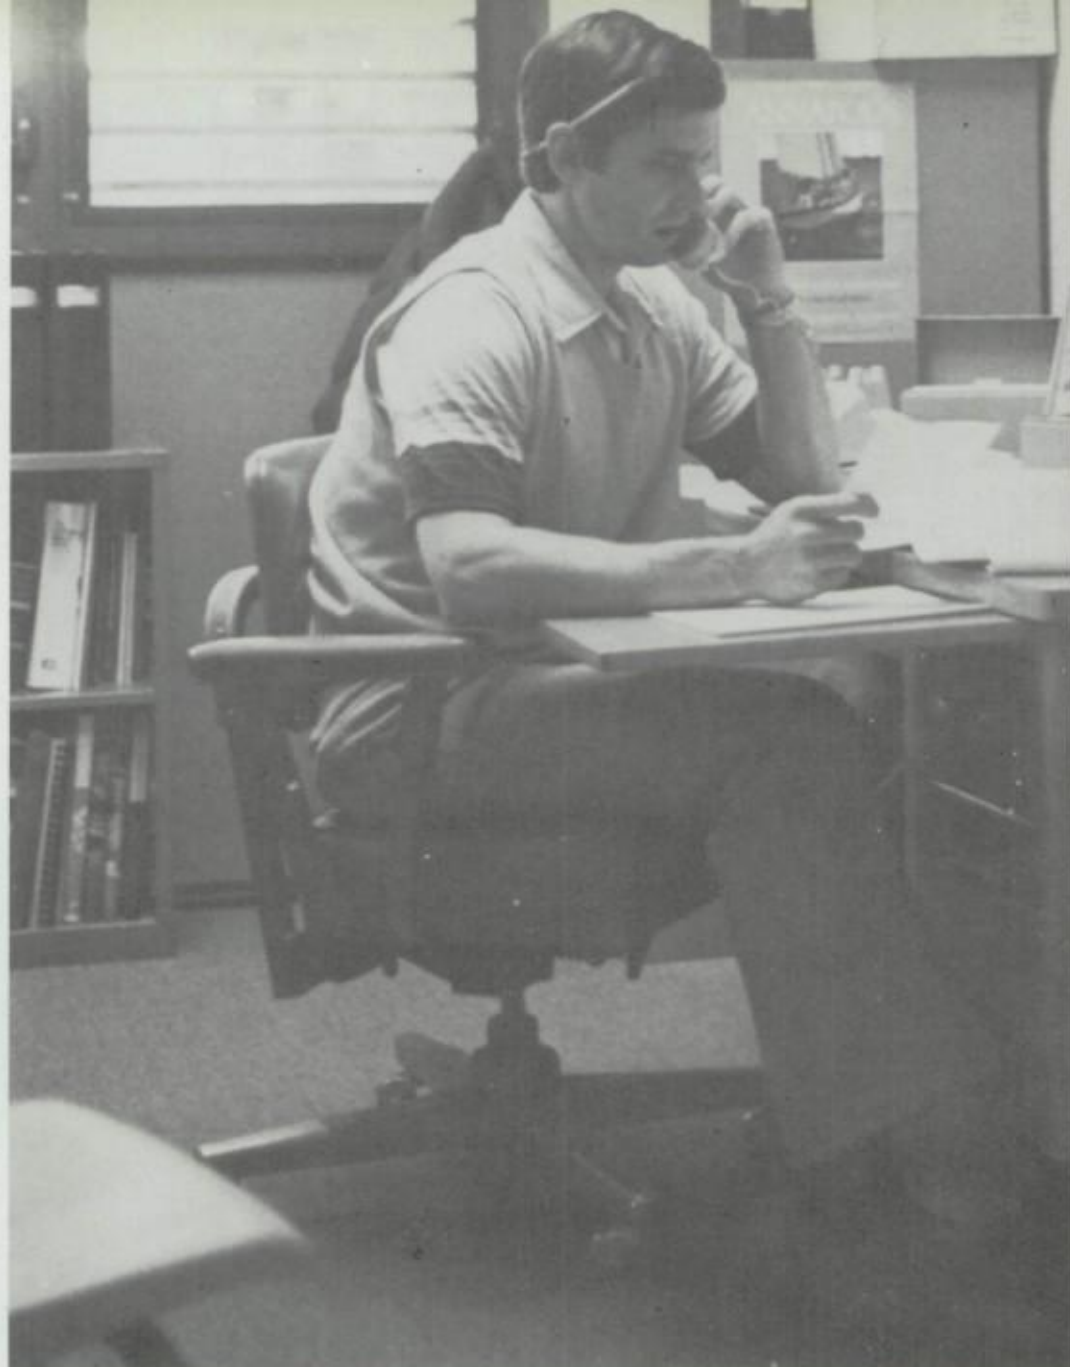

"Turlock High is a zoo!!— Full of good people, staff, and administration," exclaimed Mary Venema, THS' adm. secretary. When THS' busy secretaries were asked when the school seemed most "zooish", the following replies were received. "When there are fifty students at the counter to bet absence slips and ten lined up for suspension and seven asking directions," answered Mary Venema. Malvern Cornell, counseling secretary, felt the first two weeks of school were the most confusing "with 2000 students making counselor appointments changing schedules they made just three months ago-it can make anyone go crazy!" "Turlock High is like a zoo from 7:45 to 3:00," concluded Peggy Addington, adm. secretary.

Counselors prepare students for future

"Do you feel like no one understands?" "Yes," exclaimed Mr. Black in answering Alert staffer. "We're here to keep students out of trouble, not get them into trouble." This was the comment made by the counselors when students were called to the counseling office wondering what they did wrong. "Too many people have the wrong impression of counselors," stated Mr. Black.

Turlock High counselors enjoy working with students and their problems. "I like dealing with students with different problems," expressed Mr. Swearingen. Pam Greer contributed, "I think the counselors are a big help to graduates in preparing for college." "I like working with teenagers because they are more fun than adults," said Guidance Counselor Mrs. Gilliespie.

THS Administration comments on THS

Ever wonder what goes on at a board meeting? For one thing, decisions are made concerning students and teachers, such as when graduation will be.

Turlock High School's administration, in their second year here, seemed to enjoy their positions. "Turlock High Students are super, even better than last year, and I didn't fight in World War I" exclaimed Turlock High School principal Tom Parker. Besides having parties, and swatting flies, the administration played a very important role in maintaining a smooth running school. Assistant Principal Paul Hewitt concluded, "I love it, it's a fun place to be, I really enjoy coming to school in the morning."

Janitors accept a peaceful year

Compared to the 1980's dramatic vandalism (burning of the old building and flooding of the boys gym), 1981 presented custodial staff with a calmer year.

"The unique thing about our job, is that we do more than just a few things. We're doing everything from moving desks to moving the walls in the P.A. building," stated Larry Peebles.

Custodians felt that the 1981 student body had been very responsible in keeping the campus clean. Despite all work, Noble Payne commented, "If I were offered another job, I wouldn't accept it."

THS students munch down!

Hungry? Why not stop in and have a hamburger or burrito at the newly remodeled "fast food" style cafeteria. Perhaps you're craving something sweet; so, go to the Student Store and buy a candy bar. "I really enjoy working in the Student Store. It's given me the chance to meet a lot of new people," stated senior cashier Carla Kinsley.

The cafeteria was remodeled this year much to the happiness of many students. Gene Womble, head of the Food Service Program, worked out a more efficient process so the students could move quickly through the lines, allowing more eating time. He also provided students with an added attraction this year; Fails Donuts!

Security prevails

"Another detention! Ah man- Ron Caballero's gonna think I'm his son, I'm in there so much!"

T.H.S. junior

Campus security- the term for many T.H.S. students has conjured up pictures of detention rooms, tardies and early attempts to make the 7:00 a.m. cut off in room D-5. However, as Campus Security Officer Bill Thomas stated, "Whether any of us likes it or not we are all subjected to rules in every aspect of life." When asked what made his job unique, Ron Cabellaro commented, "We're not confined to a classroom-our problems involve over 2000 students."

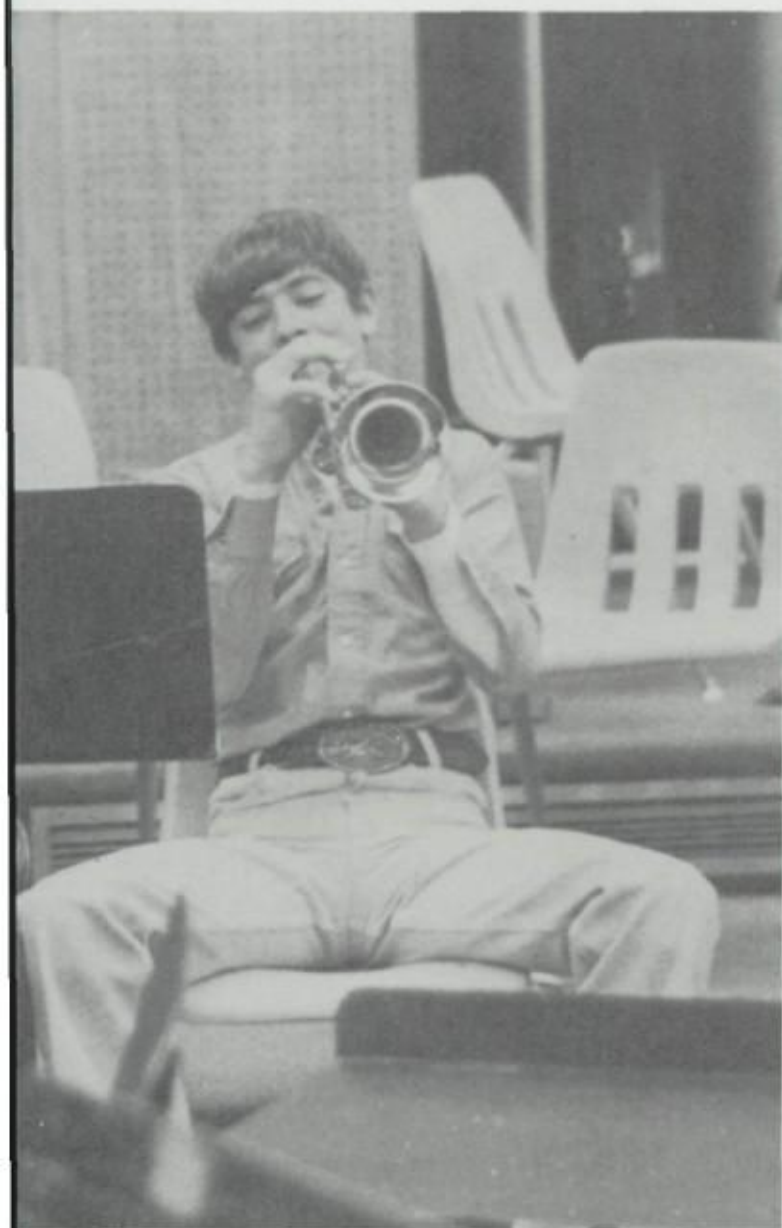

Concentration hits music and art

"Students can advance as rapidly as they want to," expressed music teacher Val Kuykendall. The students learned a wide variety of songs, from Christmas tunes to hits from the 80's. "We try to get as many popular songs in as we can," Kuykendall explained.

The beginning guitar students started the year by learning fifty chords. Then they moved on to strums and the basic picking styles. Popular songs, rather than traditional textbooks are used for instruction.

it," said Danielle Gogo. 1980-81 school funds paid for some of art expenses, the class was both more affordable and more popular.

Home economics whips it again!

"Home Economics is for everybody!" exclaimed Department Chairperson Laura de la Motte. "Home Economics provides the most important skills for when you are on your own." Turlock High's Home Economics department continued to train students in practical areas, offering a variety of classes ranging from gourmet foods to child care. Sewing was one of the more popular classes here at THS this year, due to soaring clothing prices. Senior Karen Novo concluded, "Sewing some of my own clothes really saves me a lot of money."

Crowded classes create confusion

"When I walk into my fifth period class it looks like three-fourths of the student body is out there," exclaimed Mrs. Jane Lazich. Though two new part time instructors were added to the 1981 staff (Mrs. Dee Steely and Mrs. Pam Johnson), PE classes at THS remained crowded.

Even with the large classes, students still choose from a wide range of activities including regular PE classes, after school sports and alternative PE. The latter program gives students a variety of choices ranging from golfing and horsemanship to dancing and Health-Fitness.

English assignments promote complaining

Homework each night. Book report due each quarter. Tests every week. "Complaints I often got from students are, 'This is too much work, this is too boring, or I have other classes,' and the one I dislike the most- 'I can't do this- even before they've tried,'" expressed Bonnie Prusack, College Prep teacher. She continued, "But the homework was necessary because it prepared students for tests and future work."

This year a new reading program was established for the class of 1984 and continuing classes to help students with study skills and speed reading. Freshman Anthony Orosco commended the program as "a great idea because some of us need it."

Advanced Placement English was offered for the first time at THS, and enabled seniors to test out of college Freshmen English and receive two college credits if they scored high on the test. Expressed Cheryl Thompson, "Even Sophocles is interesting when Miss Dillman is teaching it."

Foreign language classes increase

Reversing a downward trend, THS foreign language classes experienced an increase in enrollment. While a few years ago French classes had sunk to two single French 1-2 class, 1980 brought three classes, with plans for further growth.

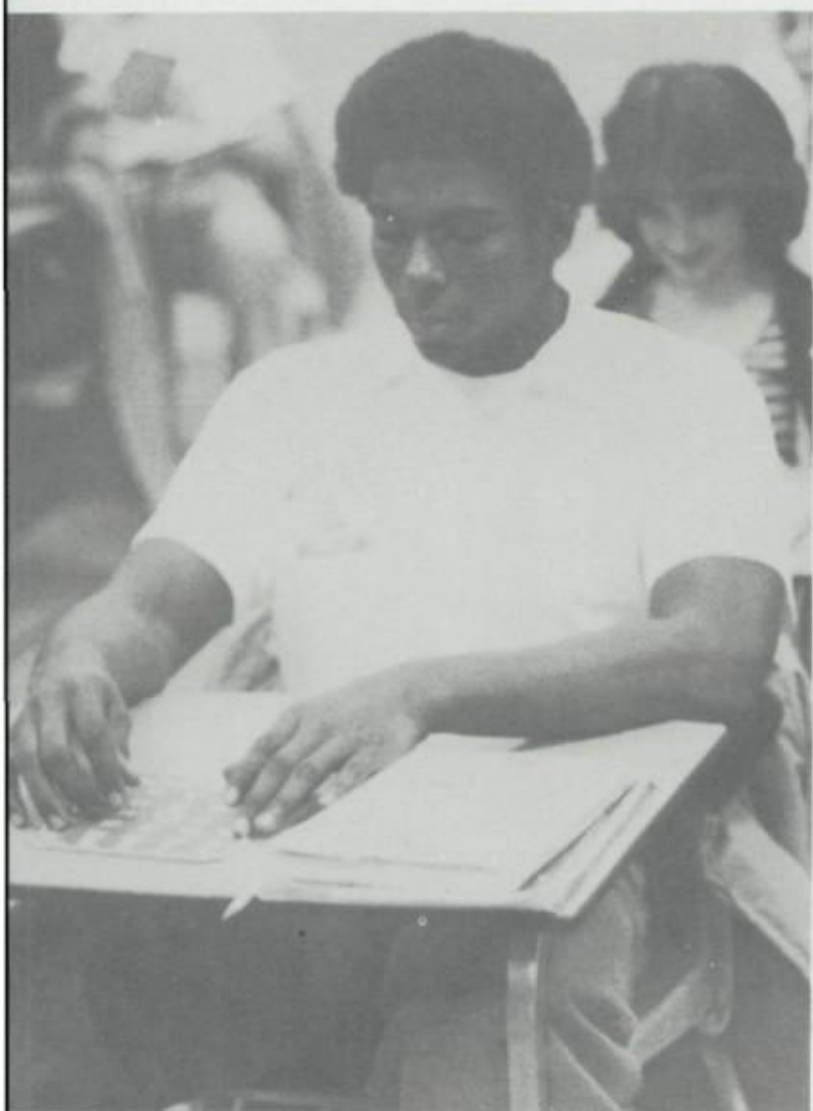

Teaching ESL and Spanish, Pat Weiglein appreciated learning and teaching about different cultures, a feeling shared by her students. Commented Rob Scott, "It's a very important part of my mental picture on society."

German remained a popular choice among THS students as teacher Freida Rector expressed, "There are more opportunities to use the language." German classes, offered at four levels, also permitted students to attend German Summer Camp in Napa Valley, work in and tour Europe, and meet and speak with many visiting Europeans.

THS invades computer age

THS acquired, due to excessive amounts of funds, a new 148K 2 disc drive network computer system. All levels of math students used this incredible mathematical genius. Douglas Adams, the math dept. head, said about the machine, "The new program is really exciting. We hope to provide greater interest in mathematics."

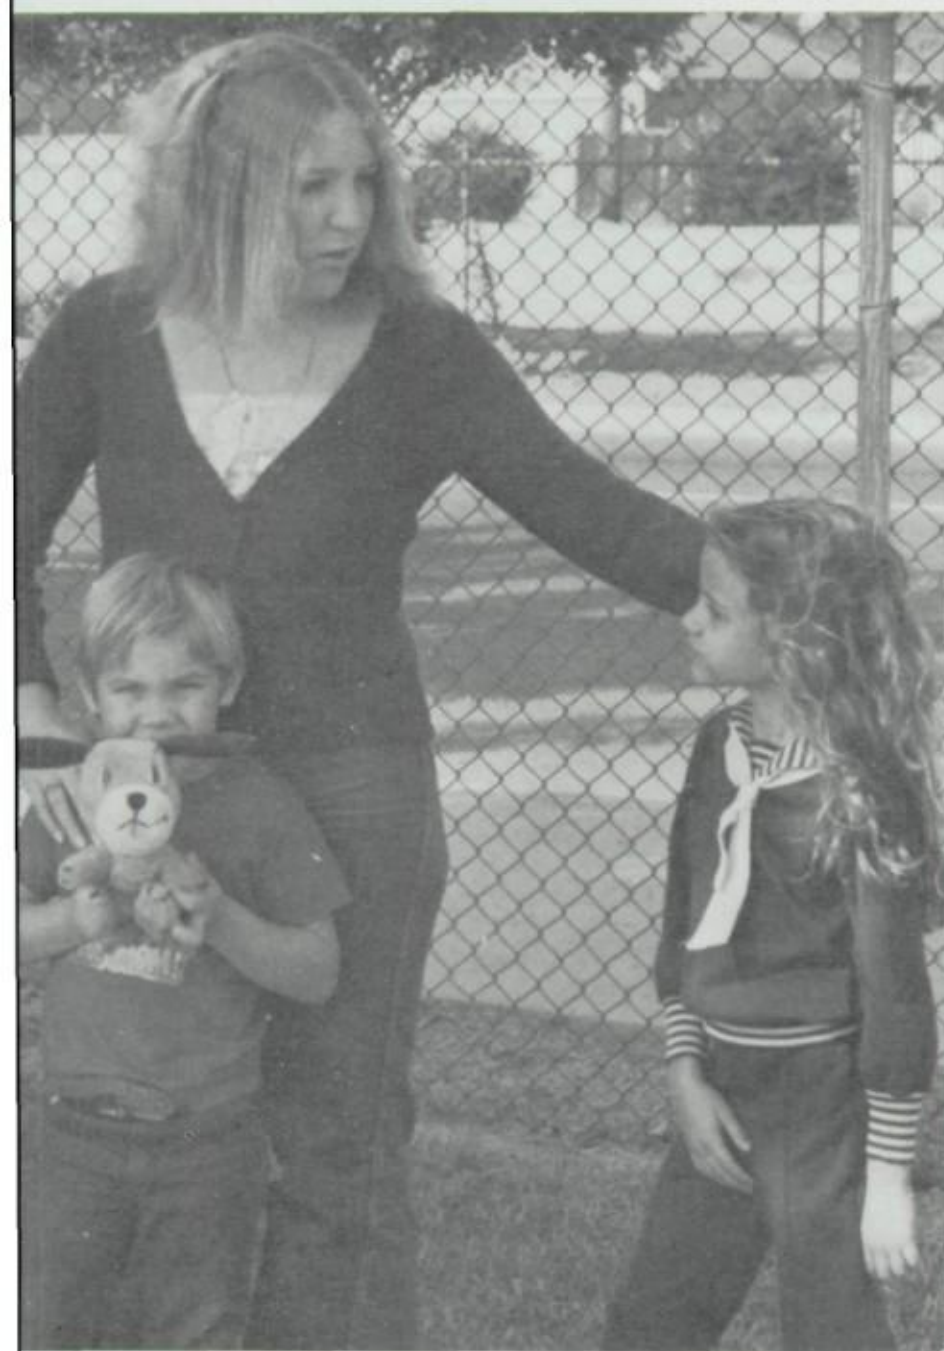

In the physics dept., student Jim Heuer experimented with the laws of gravity. He tried to prove that mass attracts mass. He too used the computers and commented, "I have done numerous calculations on the little rascal."

R.O.P. furnishes on the job skills

In the Regional Occupation Program, students learn job training and receive job placement, besides earning valuable high school credits.

"Students are receiving experiences in R.O.P. that we are unable to duplicate in classroom situation. Without prior experience in a special field, many people find it difficult to obtain employment. These programs provide that experience," commented instructor Ailene Cross of the R.O.P. of-fice occupations and merchandising classes.

Concluded senior Tracy Voss, "My R.O.P. class will provide the experience I need when I'm applying for a job in the field."

Business classes instruct for future

Why take business classes? T.H.S. students were asked by Alert staff, receiving the following answers: "I need to know how to balance a check-book." "I need to know how to type for college.", "I have a better chance of getting a job over someone who doesn't."

Instructors felt that business classes offered both practical and immediate advantages. Mary K. Holden, typing instructor stated that "Typing will help students in the future and with their classes now." Students seemed to agree with Holden as Senior Cathy Chambers commented that "Common Business Skills taught me a lot of important skills for everyday living I wouldn't have learned in any other classes."

Industrial arts provides skills

Some of our future architects, mechanics, welders and electricians were enrolled in Turlock High's many Industrial Arts classes. The program, headed by Mr. Joe Duarte was very popular with the students, with woodshop and drafting leading the way. All the classes began with simple basics which led up to more advanced projects. For example, drafting began with simple three dimensional drawings and concluded with house plans.

Electronic classes offered students a chance to work on Turlock High's radio station (KBDG). Alan Edwards, a disc jockey of two years, enjoyed fulfilling requests from the audience. "It's good to know that people are listening to you."

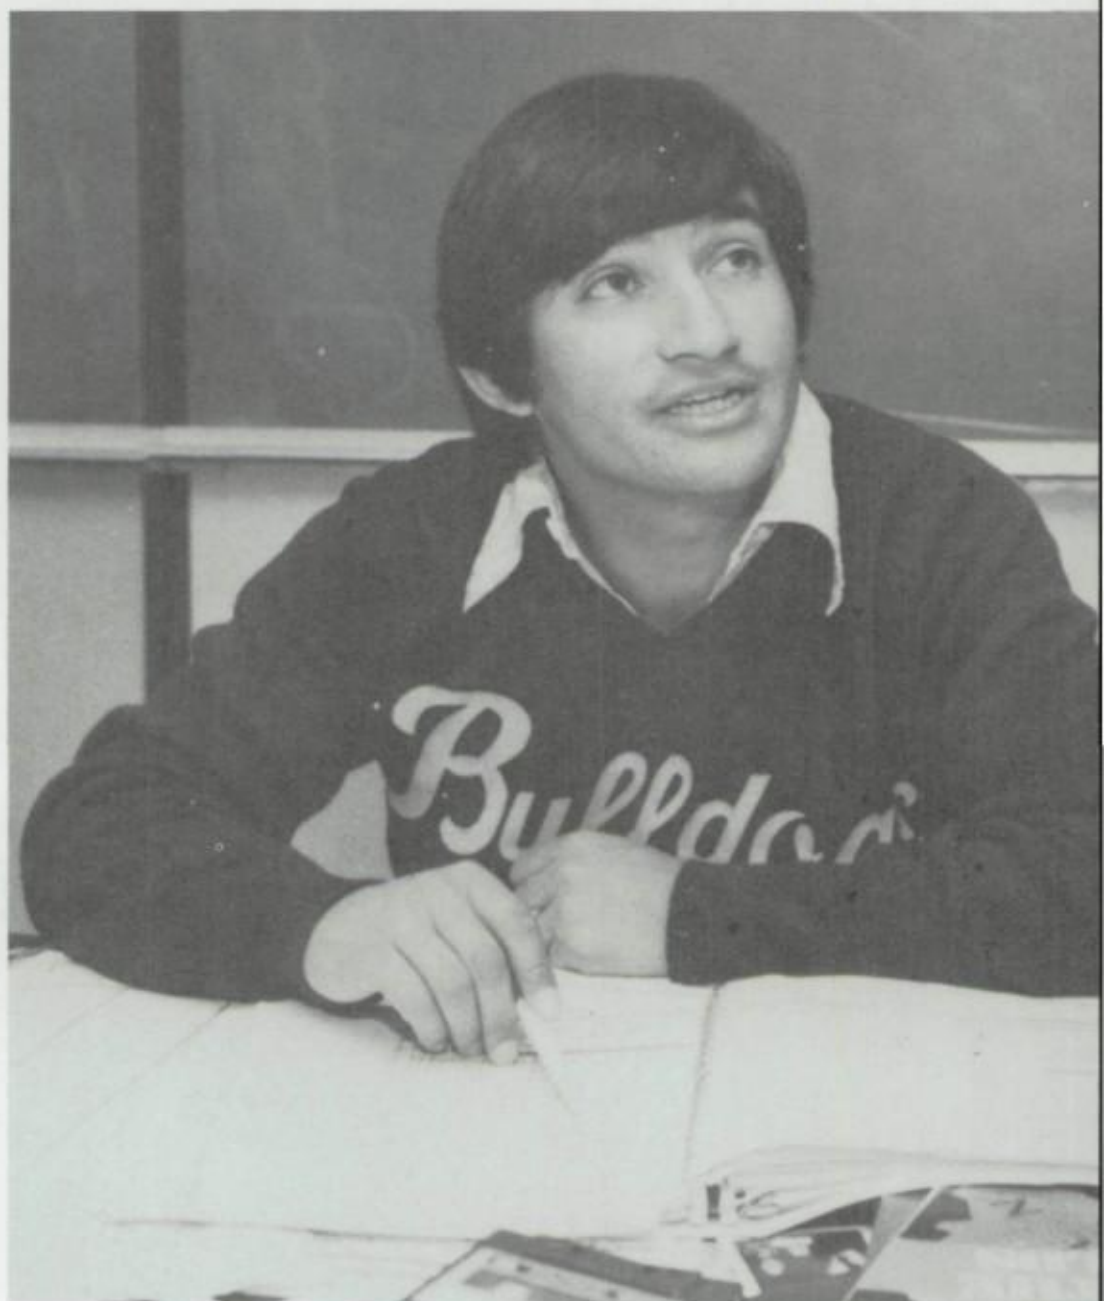

Teachers work, and students groan

"What? Another quiz?" typically groan Turlock High School Social Studies students. Quizzes, term papers, lectures and notes- all are part of the program teachers are required to teach. THS history students feel they have a lot of homework, but their teachers have the same amount, if not more, just preparing to teach the course.

Teachers' opinions seem to clash with students here at Turlock High School. Lionel Barragan exclaimed, "Teachers have the easiest job in the world!" History teacher Mr. de la Motte remarked, "I feel that a teacher's job requires a great deal of out of class preparation such as reading the text, answering questions, making tests etc . . . Many people do not realize this is part of the job." Perhaps Ralph Gonzales' opinion sums it all up, "I feel teachers have a difficult time when they have students like us."

Bulldogs struggle with close season

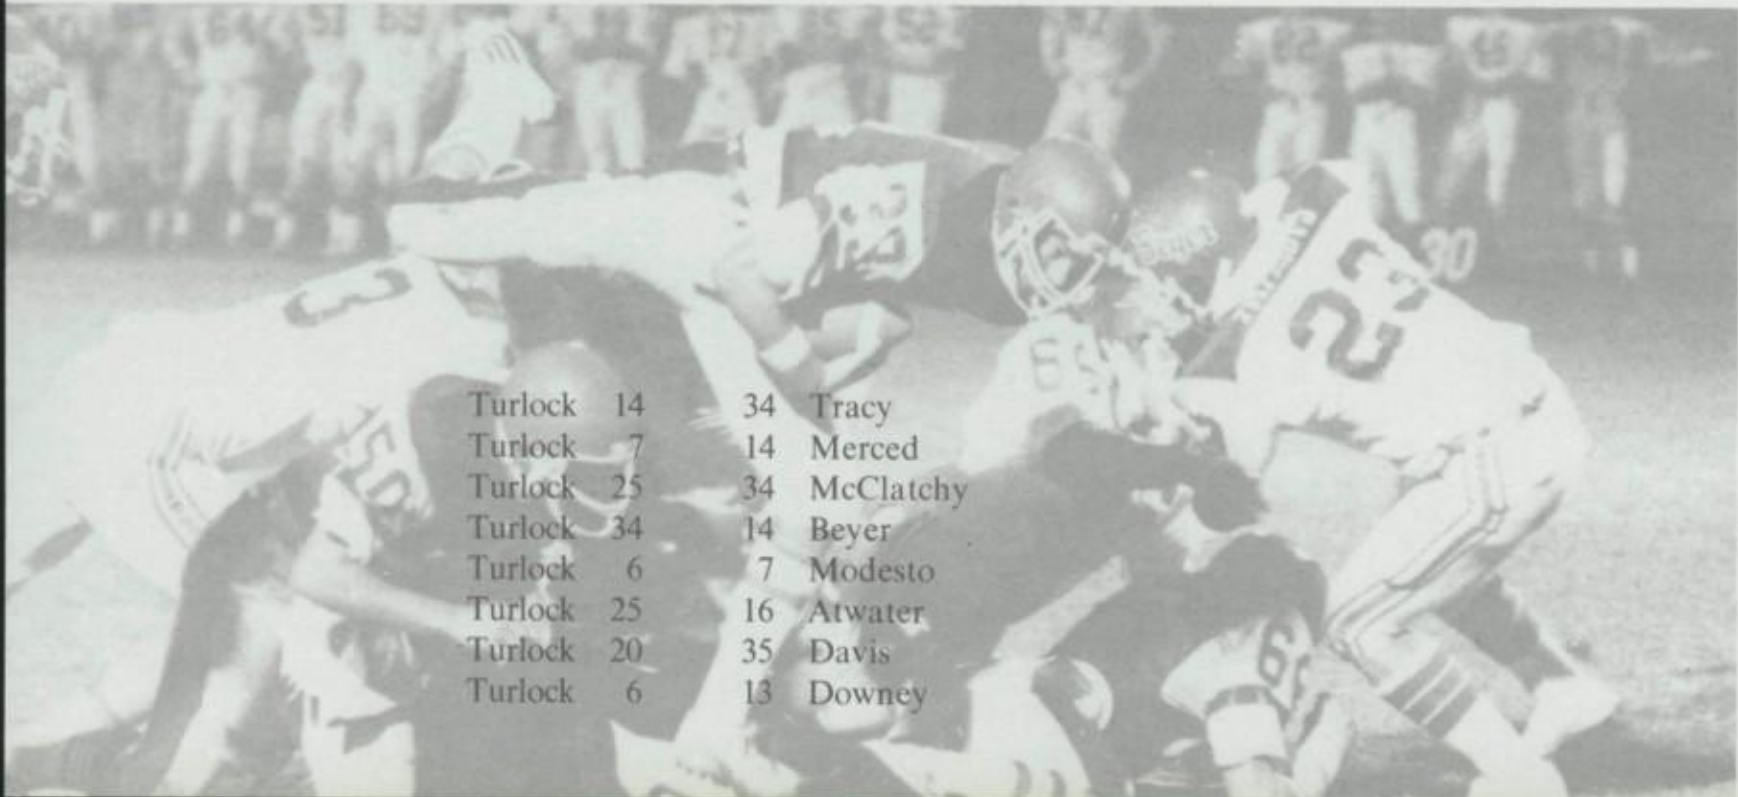

"Who knows what could have happened if we would have won the first game against Oakdale" expressed head coach Evert Jones. Oakdale having an illegal player on the field changed the Bulldogs loss to a win. If Oakdale's illegal player who made the touchdown and extra point wasn't playing, the Bulldogs probably would have won. "Having a first game win could have started us off to a winning season," commented tight end Kevin Thomas.

After losing the first five games, the strong fighting Bulldogs defeated the Beyer Patriots with a stunning 34-16 victory. "It was an exciting game," expressed running back Jerry Ragsdale. "I've never made five touchdowns in one game." Ragsdale also commented, "I couldn't have done it without the front line."

The Bulldogs had a rough time - losing the first few games. "We should have won every game except for Tracy. I guess it just took us awhile to get it together," commented Dennie "Action" Kelso.

Spirit improves as 'Pups succeed

Improving some from last year, the sophomore football team won some hard fought games. The sophomore football team came out of a 1-7 record last year to a 3-7 record this year. "We started out slow but came back towards the middle of the season," expressed Dale Selee. "We did good but we could have won two more games; the minimum we should have had was a tie," contributed coach Vern Pitau.

The attitudes of the sophs towards football changed dramatically this season, and spirit was greater. The sophs won a few games that got their spirit up. Coach Ben Culala claimed, "From the beginning to the end of the season, there was a definite improvement." "Their attitudes have improved this year, but we could have had more effort towards the end of the year," stated Atch Pedretti.

THS Maddogs show exceptional promise

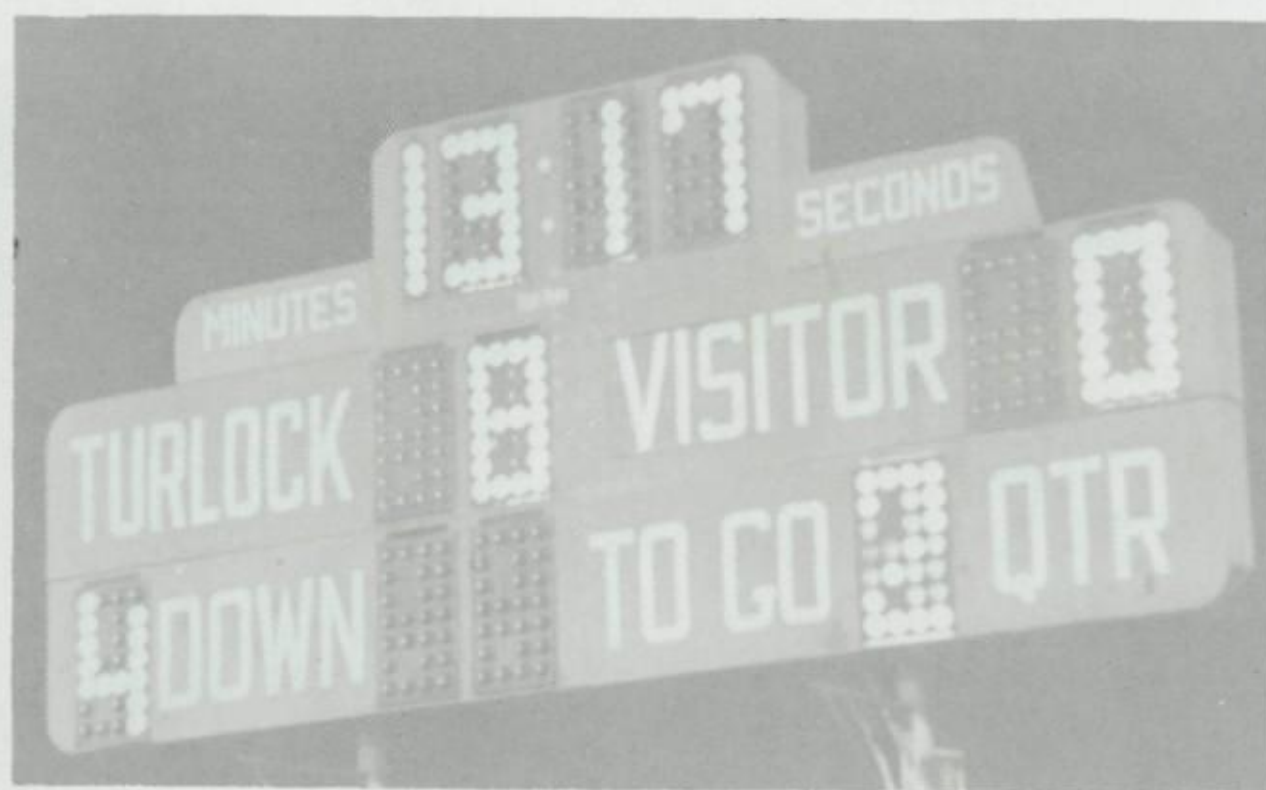

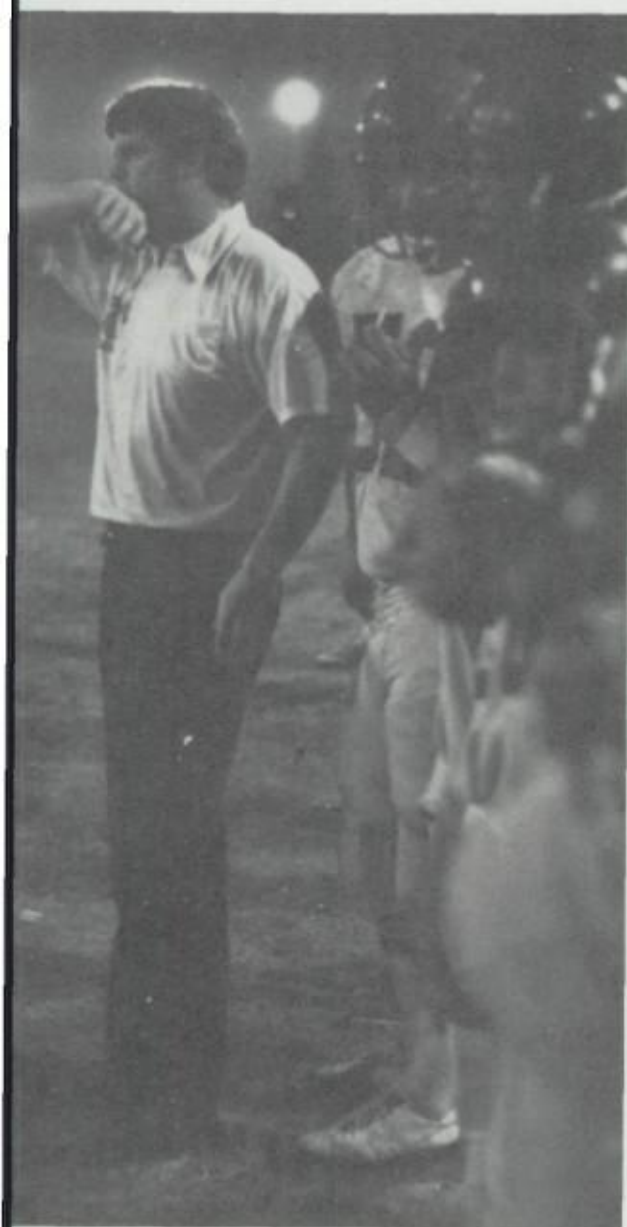

After a slow start the Turlock Frosh football team rebounded to win four of its last six games to capture third place in the Central California Conference.

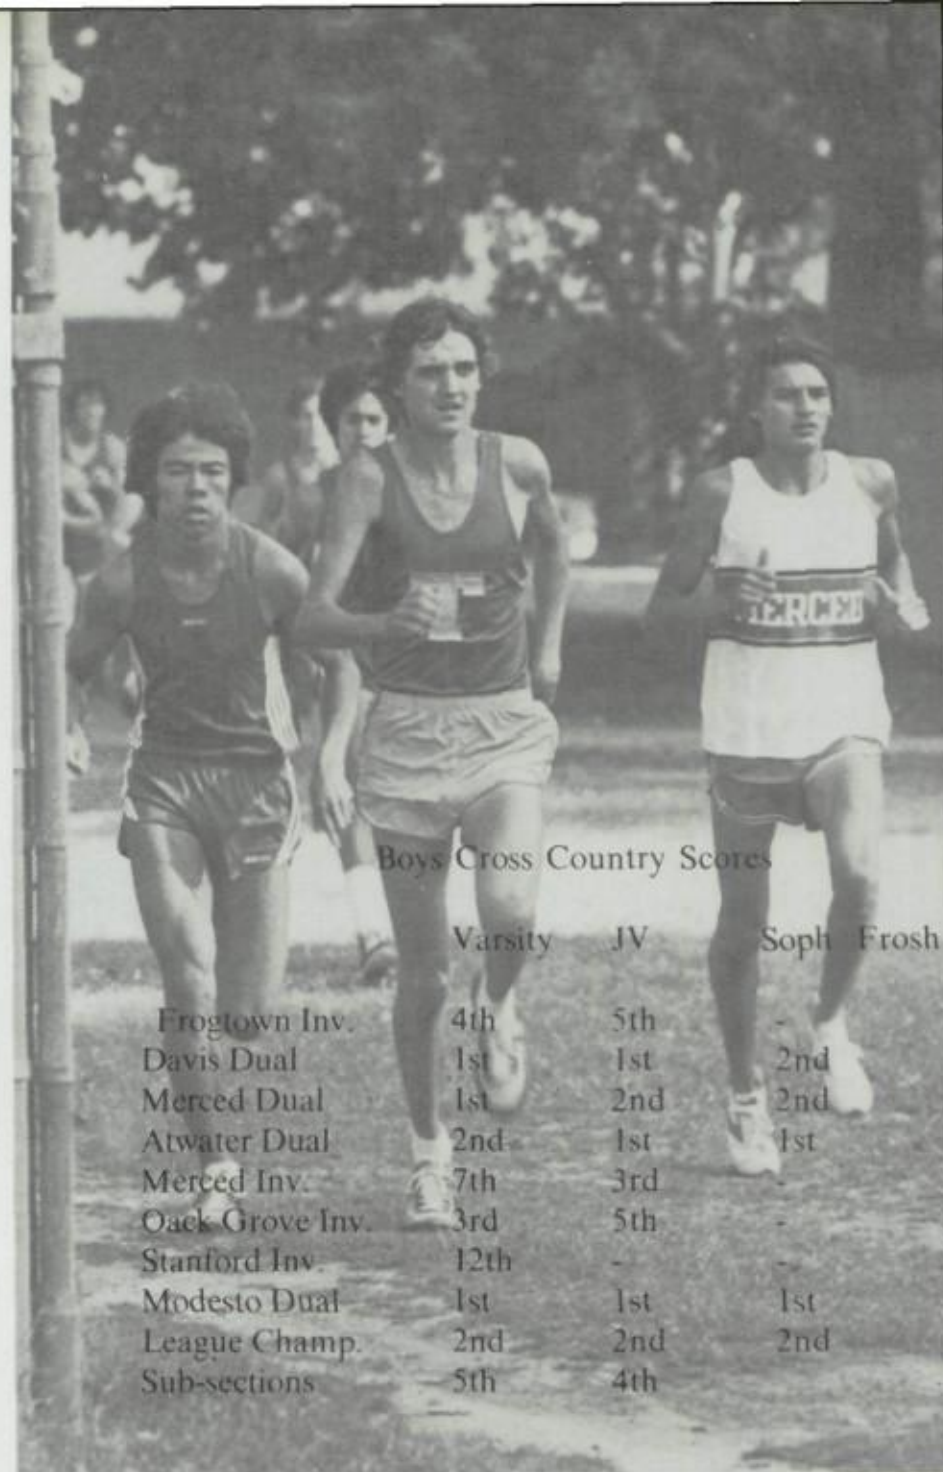

With quarterback Randy Woods and tailback Tedd Turner leading the offensive charge, the Maddogs were able to put a great abundance of points on the scoreboard. Offensive lineman Tom Bourdet, Steve McCary, Lee Bacon and Lee Smith were responsible for giving Woods time to pass, along with opening holes for Turner. Mike Pogwizd stated, "We had the best record of any Frosh football team in the last five years."

Turlock was not all offense; their defense was a tough, hard hitting crew, led by linebackers Barry Jenkins and Richard Lucas. Gary Hudson and Glenn Keenon plugged up holes on the defensive line making it tough on enemy runningbacks. George Talamante and Darris Garmen led the secondary.

Runners strengthen as White nabs first

In the last two years the cross country team grew from a total of four members to an outstanding total of fifty. The cross country craze was spreading! "Last year, the team was a young team which went a long way. Next year, we'll have a great team that should go all the way," expressed coach George White. He continued, "In training, we have gone from a jogging a mile a day to a good workout of either ten or more miles to running twenty 440's in a row."

Led by captain Rory White, who won the CCC League Championship Meet, the Varsity team captured 2nd in the league. Strong members included Syrus Devers, Juan Orosco, Randy Eyberg, Tim Stevens, Dennis Sneed, Toby White and Sam Brushia, "Cross Country is a competitive sport, being more of an individual sport rather than a team sport. If you blow it, you can't blame it on anybody else, except yourself," pointed out Tim Stevens.

Also capturing 2nd was the JV team, its consistent leaders being David Britton and Steve Marsh. Leading the Frosh-Soph team (and in CCC) were J.R. Sanchez, Ed Sanchez, and Anthony Orosco. To sum up Robert Chow remarked, "Runners are masochists, but we love it."

Girls' sports succeed

The THS Girls Cross country team, led by captain Debbie Dekasha, garnered a second place finish behind the talented Merced Bears in the Central California Conference. Dekasha placed third out of one-hundred and fifty girls at the Stanford University Invitationals. "No THS girl has ever placed in those invitationals before Dekasha," commented coach White. Other members responsible for Turlock's fine finish were Debbie Dixon, Tracee Farlinger, Becky Tyler, Marie Fletcher, Julie Leach and Kim Oberkamper.

"Being able to make it to sections made everything worthwhile," finalist Wilma Candelario (one-half of the winning doubles team of Candelario/Sallaberry) expressed. Both in their first year of doubles tennis, Solange Sallaberry and Wilma Candelario rose to being the only doubles tennis team to make it to Sac-Joaquin Sections. Janet Lindsay was the singles finalist, this being her third year on the tennis team.

Waterpolo secures CCC championship

"This has been our most successful season without a doubt. Our players have worked very hard, and have finished the league season as the champions they deserve to be," exclaimed head coach Steve Feaver. The varsity waterpolo crew were CCC co-champions. They finished with a record of 22-4 in all round play, and 9-1 in league, only losing to Merced. The bullfrogs placed third in the Southern Subsections, beating Tracy and Atwater, and continued on to Sections.

David Andrew, the team's top scorer, was voted co-MVP for the CCC. Capturing first team berths were David Bill, Goalie Bob Weaver, and Blake Berry. Receiving second team honors was junior Brent Evans. "No one player stood out in the competition, but this year's team was very even and well balanced," quoted Coach Feaver.

Enduring poloists rebuild THS teams

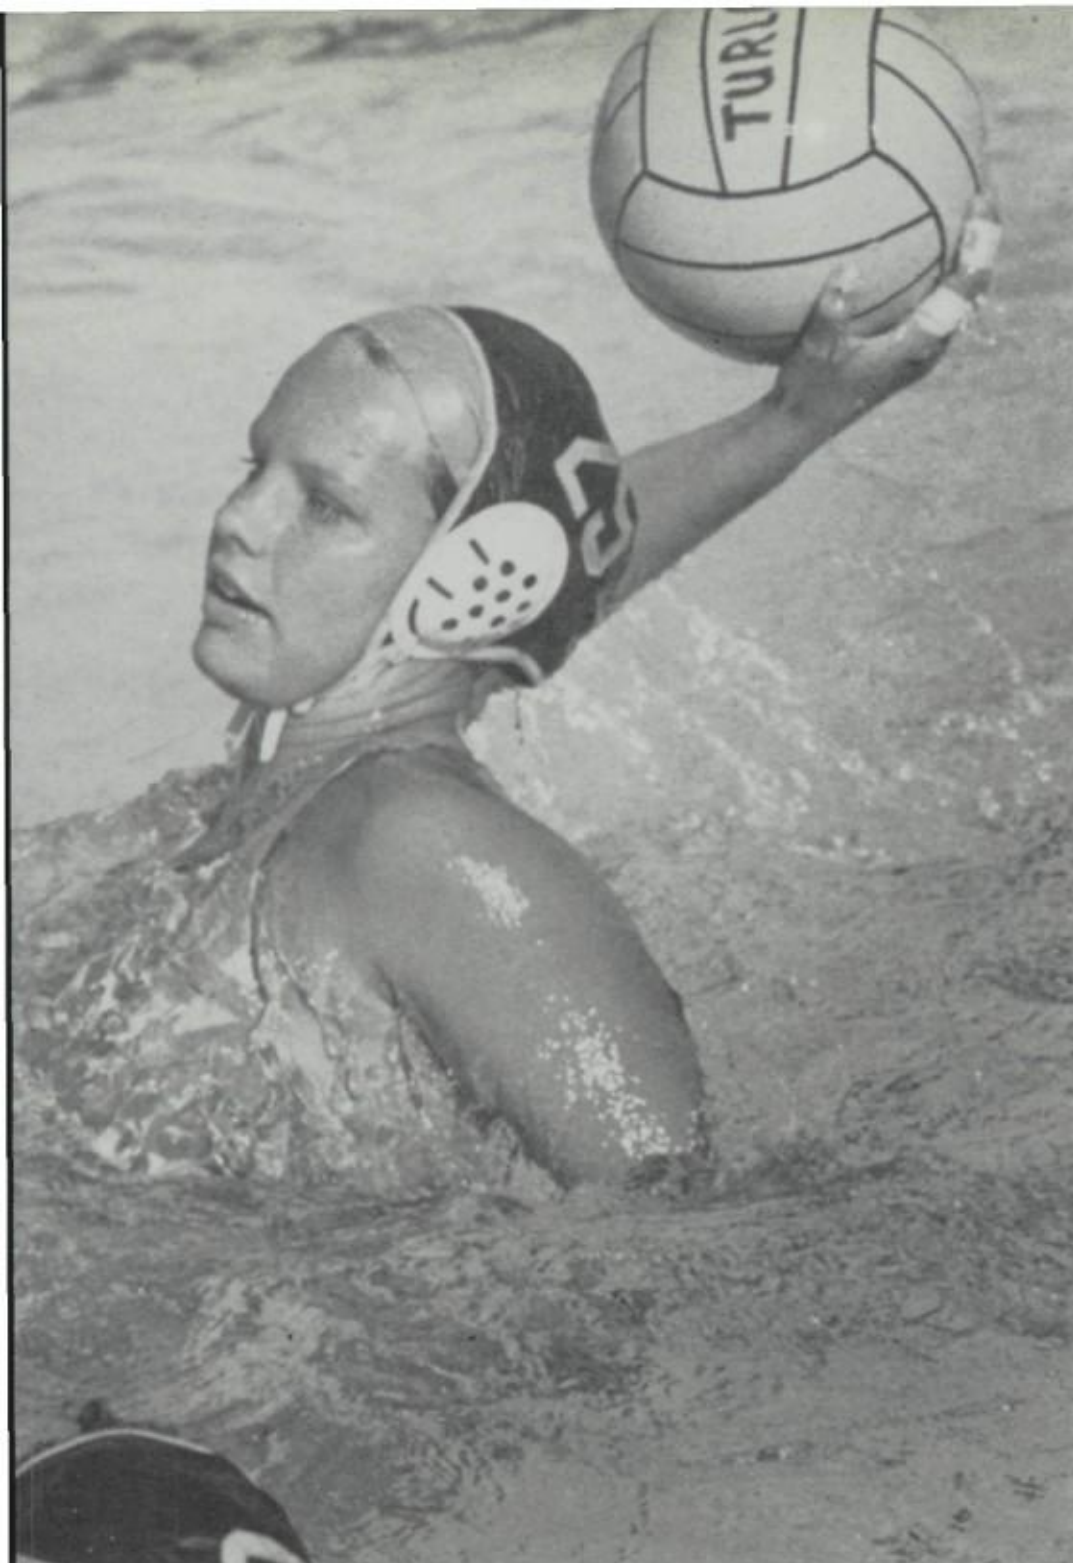

The 1980 Girl's waterpolo team was in a rebuilding year after losing seven top players from last year's championship team. The frogettes finished in a tie with Merced for third place in CCC. The poloists recorded a 5-5 record in league and a 9-8 overall tally. Coach Bill Thomas commented, "A combination of great talent and inexperience made for a season of extreme highs and lows." The best play of the season came in the Reno tournament, as senior Sally Channing commented "where we really started to play polo."

Awarded first team honors in CCC were Sally and Carol Channing and senior Sonja Sondeno. Goalie Kathy Maurer clinched a second team seat along with Laurie McKibbin and Cindy Jones.

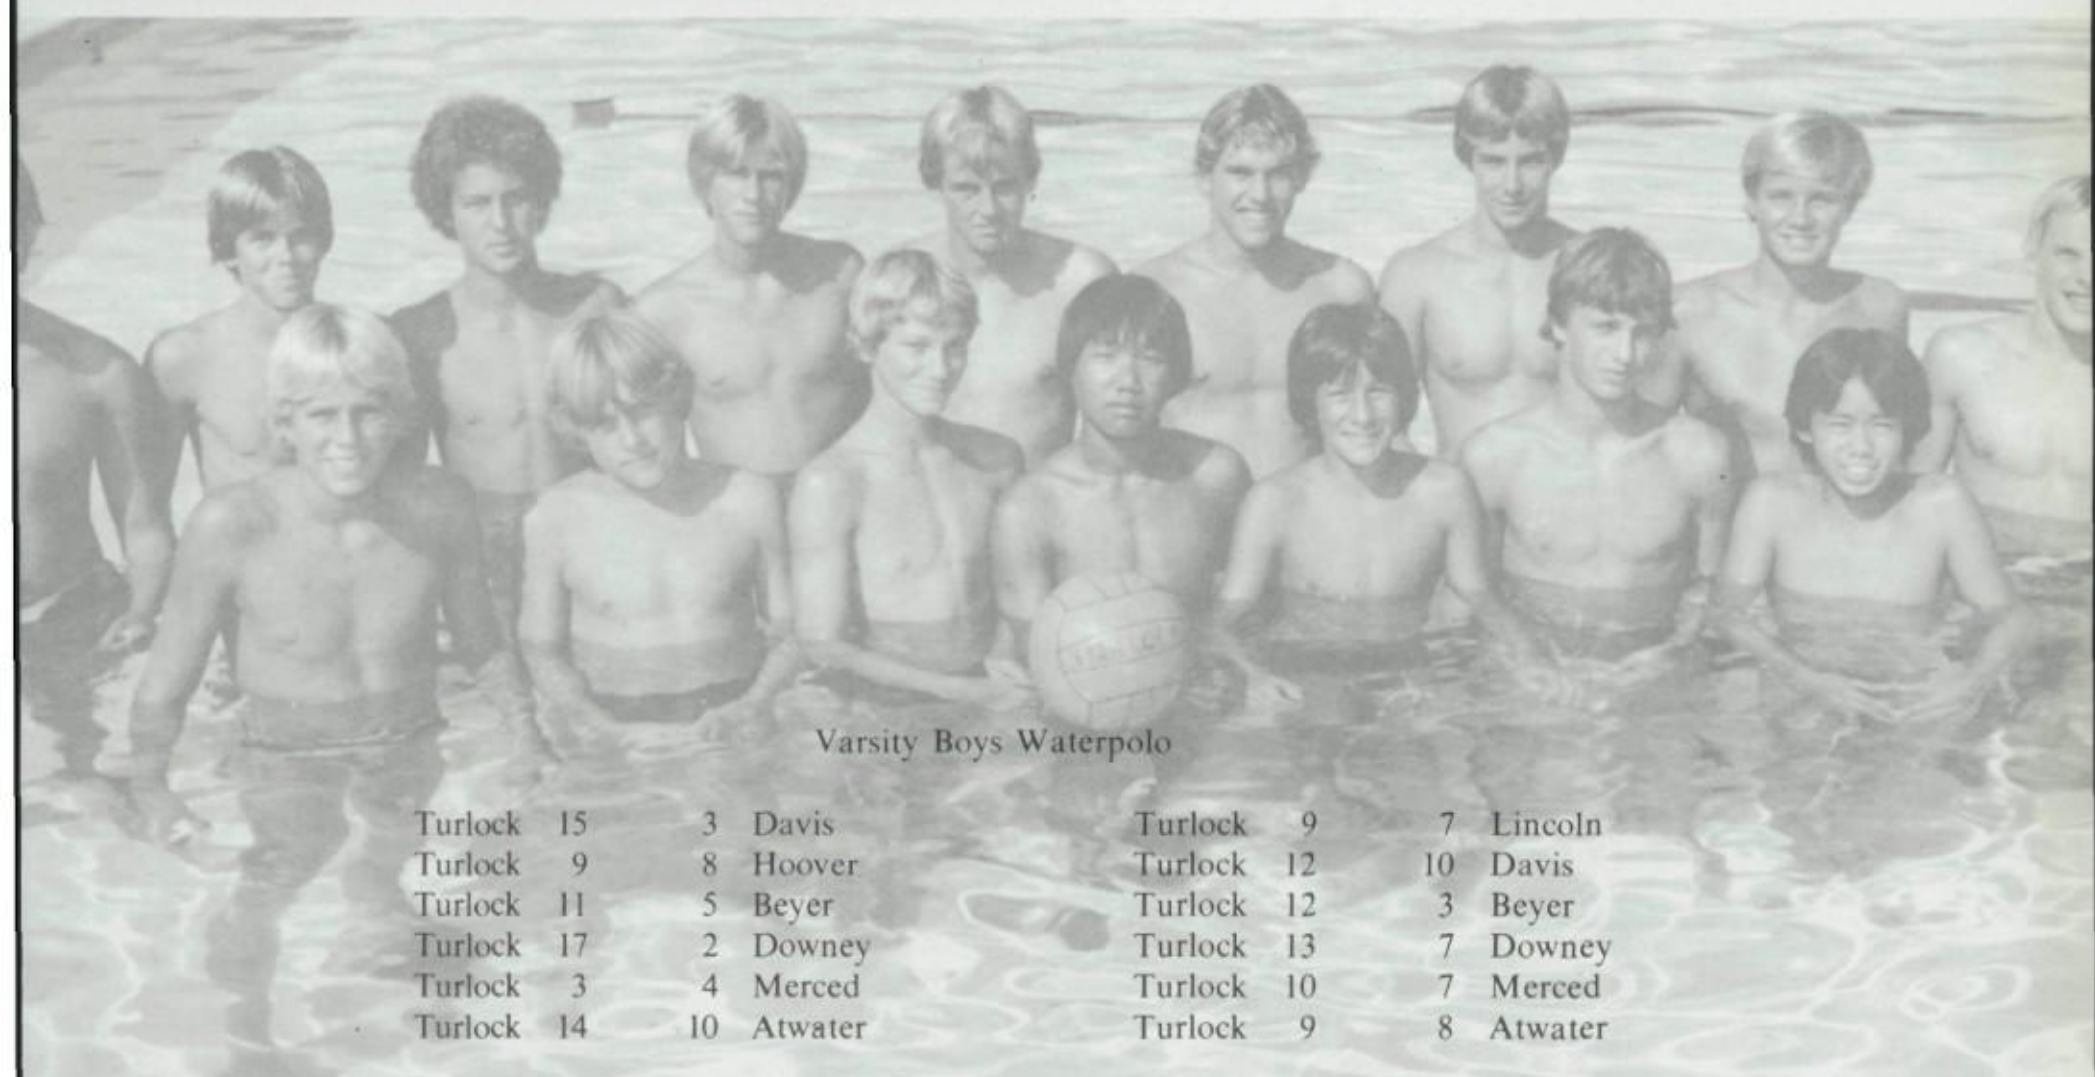

"Good defense and exceptional team speed made our Frosh-Soph team one of the best around," stated Thomas. Head Coach Steve Feaver added, "This was a successful season even with the lack of experience." Only six of sixteen had playing experience. The young team ended in 2nd place in the CCC and came out 2nd in the Merced Invitational Tournament. Also finishing 14-4 in all round play, the team overpowered all their opponents except for Merced who accounted for three of four losses.

Andre Weiglein, Bryan McCormack, Tracy Stapleton, Max Phillips and Paul McLlroy led the offensive attack while goalie Paul Maures supplied defense. The team indicated a bright future for THS varsity waterpolo in the next couple years.

Spikers experience challenging season

"We didn't have a very good season on our part, but we had a lot of fun. I guess we just choked at 13 too many times," expressed all conference senior player Denise Green. The girls put out a tough effort, usually getting a big lead, and then allowing the other team a chance to catch up and win.

"It was kind of a disappointment, losing so many games, considering we practiced so hard during the summer and through out the season," explained junior setter Pam Beasley. The girls had a good team even though their record didn't show it. "It was a lot more fun playing varsity than junior varsity," commented Melba Phillips, adding that, "I'm glad I had a chance to play with some good friends."

THS varsity succeeds, overcomes injuries

The Turlock girls' basketball team, paced by senior Kris Menzel, conquered countless early season injuries to nab third place in the Central California Conference. With a 13-11 ledger, they earned a berth to play in the section tournament.

While many key performers were nursing various injuries (which was a main contributor to THS slow start), third year varsity player Menzel keyed the gal dogs to victories and led the team in scoring, (11.4) and rebounds (8.0).

Turlock dropped their opening game of the section playoffs to the hosts and SJAA champion, Lincoln Trojans. "We really were disappointed about the loss to Lincoln; we just didn't play as well as were capable," expressed forward Kirsten Cross. Miss Cross helped out with the scoring duties, meshing 10 points a game.

JV hoopsters take 2nd freshmen suffer defeat

By producing a 10-2 log the sophomore girls basketball team captured second place in the Central California Conference.

With Heather Guy and Kathy Cusenza ripping the nets for 14 and 10 points a game respectfully, and Lynette Matthews pulling down 7 rebounds per game, Turlock easily defeated five of the six clubs in the CCC. The only troublesome opponent was the CCC champ, Merced Bears. The Bears, who were supported by a tall line up, controlled the boards and thus the game in their two meetings. "We just couldn't get any offensive rebounds to stay in the game, commented Miss Guy. "They really have a lot of talent on that team."

Turlock High's freshmen team battled sophomore teams throughout the season due to absence of frosh teams and thus received many defeats.

Bulldogs: Two in a row

For the second year in a row, the Turlock Varsity Basketball team captured the CCC championship. Sharing the honors with Merced, the team ended league on a 10-2 record. The Bulldogs' season record of 22-4 set a new school best, right along with the new record of a 17-game winning streak, breaking the old mark of 12 straight.

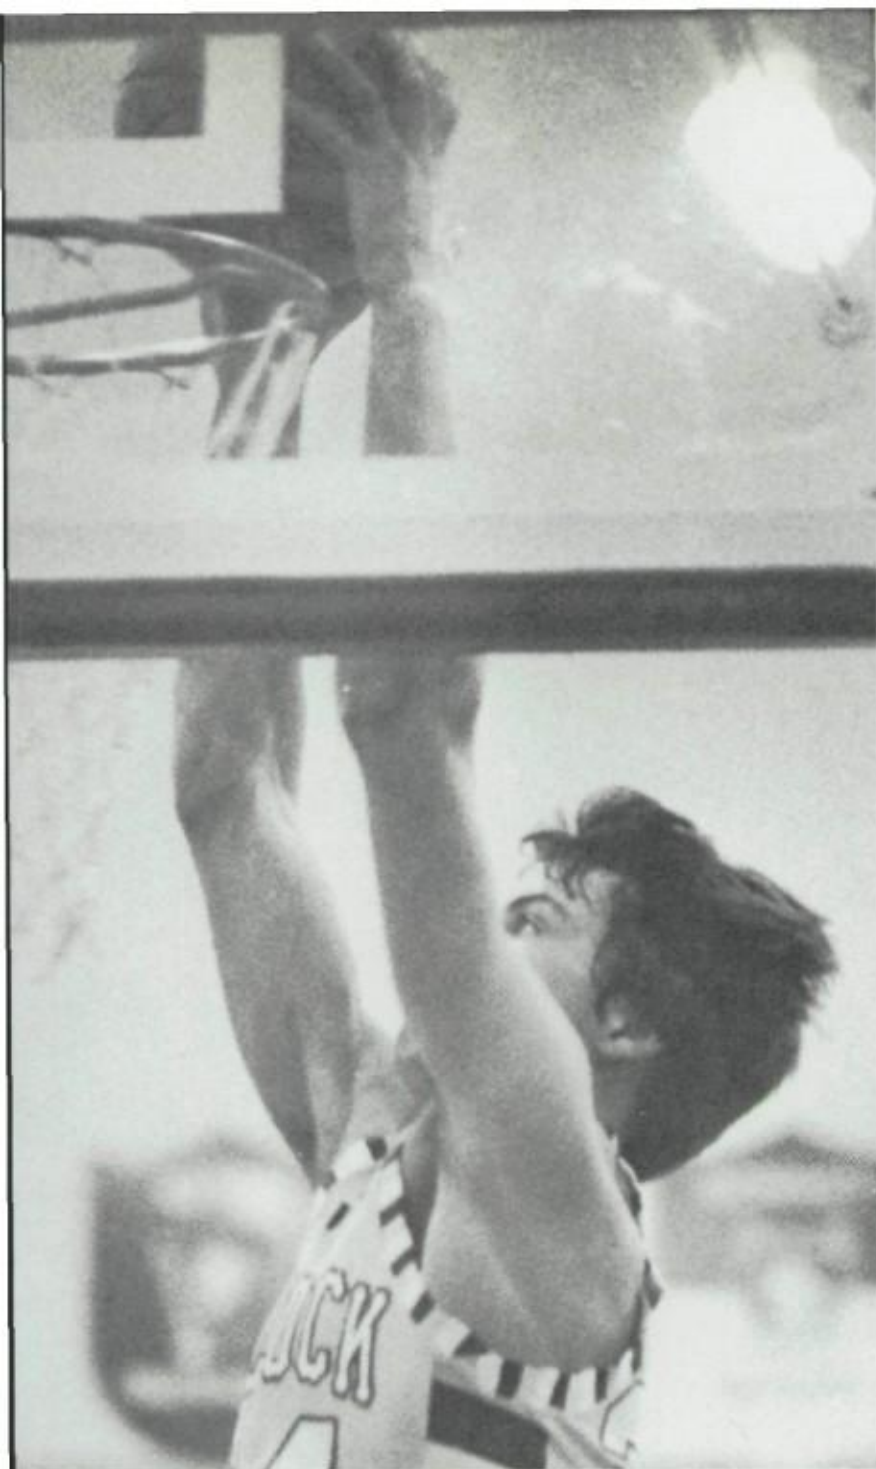

Another two-year honor was capturing the Turlock Invitational Tournament. They also took the Wendall Arnett Tourney at Placer High School in Auburn. "Turlock's success is due to the dedication of its players in the off season to better themselves as basketball players. This dedication and team concept of play has lead Turlock the last two years to a record of 45-10 and two league championships," expressed head coach Bob Thomason.

Turlock was led by the scoring and rebounding of junior center Mike Lopes, and senior forward Sean Mills. "This is the first time ever that a THS basketball team has won back-to-back championships. I feel honored to be a part of this accomplishment," concluded Sean Mills. Named MVP in both the Turlock and Placer Tournaments, Mike Lopes for the second year in a row, was selected first team all-league. Co-captain Milis, who captured all-tourney recognition twice, was also selected to the first team all league CCC. This combination along with the other starters co-captain Larry Hudson, Dennis Gray, and second team all-league junior guard Ed Sai, proved unstoppable.

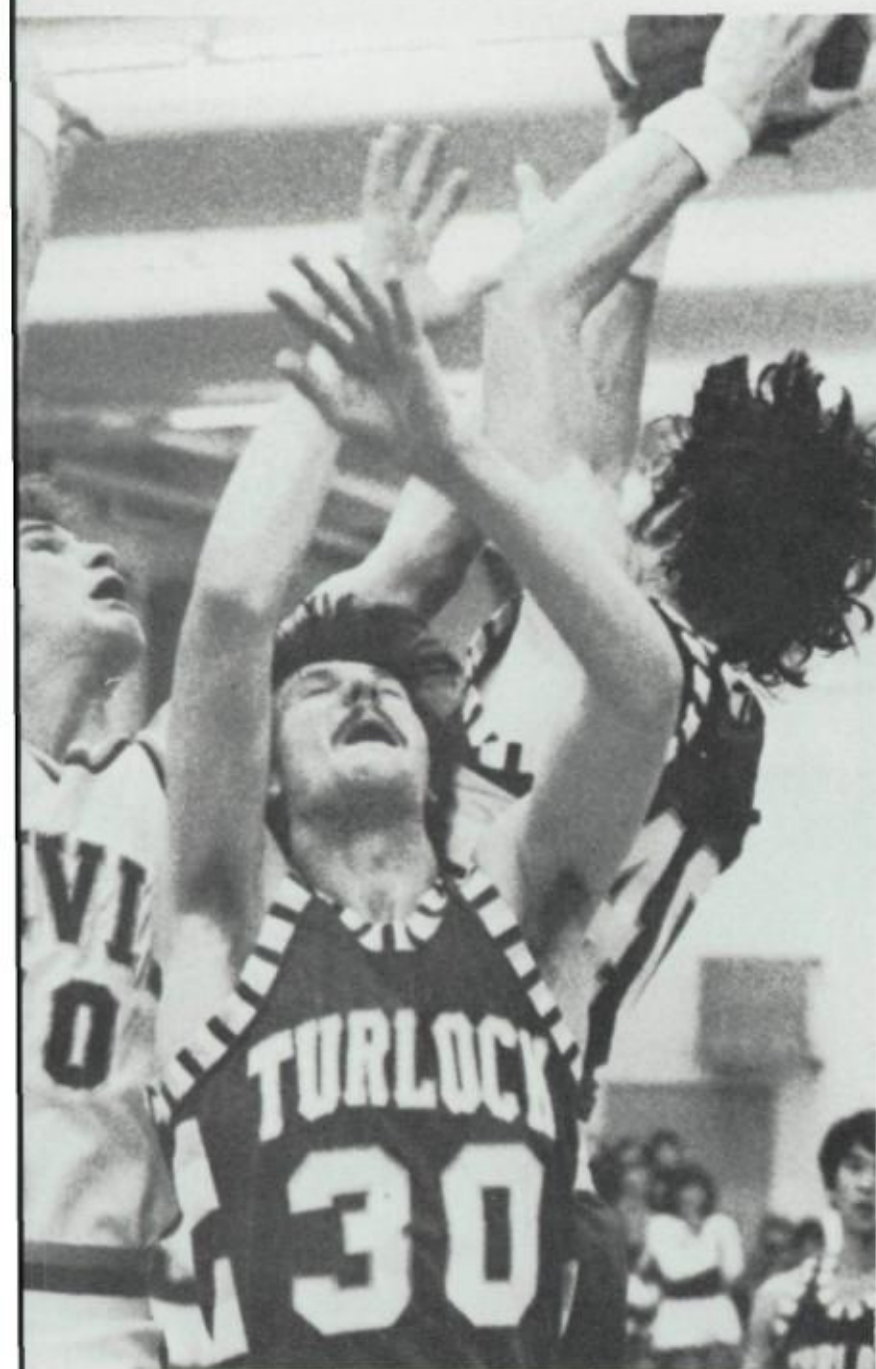

The Turlock Bulldogs also fought their way through Beyer High to take their second CCC Tournament. This led them to Section Tournament.

Hoopsters struggle

"We played well in most of the pre-season, and well in the end of CCC play. Hopefully some of these players will help the Varsity next year," stated Sophomore coach Mark de la Motte.

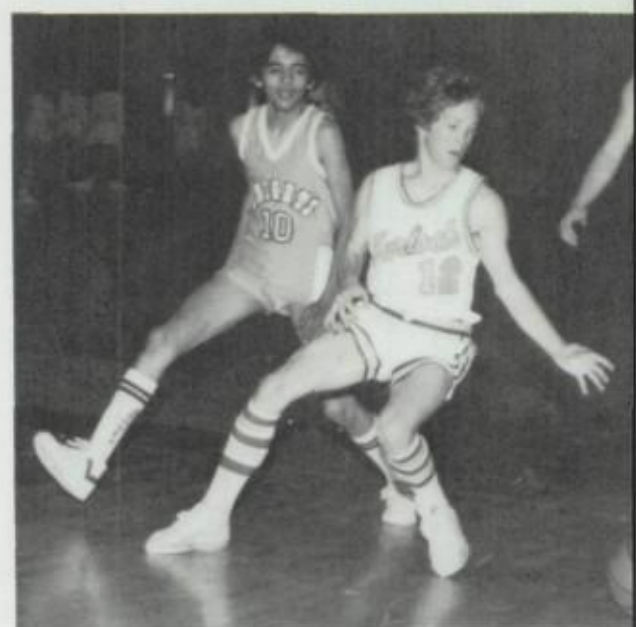

The team was inconsistent early in league and went into a five game slump before snapping out of it. Because of this bad start, the team wound up in sixth place. "Steve Willense and Mike Fischer played well consistently because they played solid team basketball," said coach de la Motte.

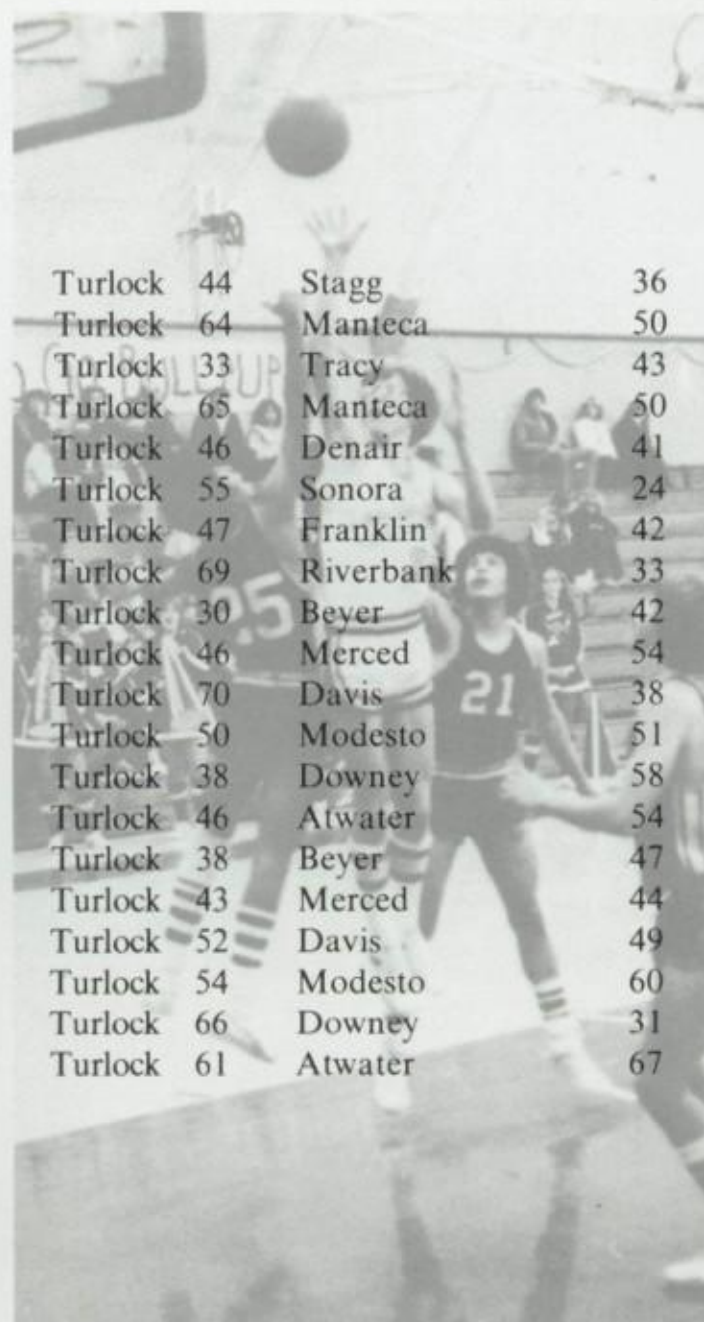

A hot and cold Freshmen team wound up fourth place. "Our defense was probably our strongest asset this year; our wins came when the offense was run correctly," stated coach Vern Pitau. He continued, "We played better than first expected".

Top players were Barry Jenkin (scoring), Randy Woods (rebounding), Adam Hilpert (defense), and Phil May (ball handling).

Dog booters fall shy of CCC title

Behind exchange student John Shoobridge's booming foot, the Turlock High School team landed a second place finish in the C.C.C. with a 12-2-4 record. The 12-2-4 log was the best in Turlock High School soccer history. Turlock's steady defense, led by goalie Mike Moore and Belouse Lellhame, continuously denied opposing teams valuable goals. "We really had a good year. It's just too bad we couldn't get by Beyer, (C.C.C. soccer champs) because there was a lot of hard working athletes out there that deserved better than second place," stated junior forward Dan Hughes. Disappointing losses to Beyer 1-0 and Central Catholic 6-2 were the main contribution to Turlock's second place finish.

Soccer enthusiasm prevails in Turlock

Soccer has had the reputation of being an incognito sport in Turlock. However, the enthusiasm and interest has grown within both sexes. A newcomer to THS, the girls soccer team had its ups and downs. "The girls lacked experience competitively as compared to the Modesto schools who had been playing soccer for years. Nevertheless their attitudes were great! They worked as a team all the time," expressed Coach Dee Steeley. The team suffered five losses, but bounced back, beat Downey twice, and achieved one time game against Modesto. In the five school league, THS came in fourth behind Central Catholic, and later defeated them in tournament; a remarkable improvement. Top players included Tammy Younkin, Tracee Farlinger (captain), Caren Reeser, Linda Coelho, Debbie Dixon, and goalie Debbie DeKasha. "Winning our first game was so exciting! It showed us we improved a great deal. We knew we could do it once we set our minds to it," commented Caren Reeser.

The two-year old JV soccer team achieved a 7-5-1 record in league. Its best players were forward Tony Galvan, goalie Joe Moore, and captain Jim Shaw. Coach Ed Clancy, a student from Cal State Stanislaus, experienced some difficulty initially. "It was mostly disciplinary problems that hindered us. We had a tendency to mess around, but came through. Although the team was inexperienced, they did really well," Clancy stated.

Varsity grapplers capture CCC title

The grappling Dogs of Turlock High School picked up the Central California Conference championship with its unbeaten dual meet record.

All twelve varsity matmen advanced to the sub-section tournament hosted by Escalon, which helped the Dogs take first-place honors back to Turlock. Ten of the twelve advanced to sections at Modesto Junior College, and juniors David Holguin and Emmanuel Felix qualified for the state finals.

Sophomore Anthony Belew summed it up by stating, "Practices were tough; everybody wrestled well, and it paid off by being number one."

J.V. Wrestling retains control over CCC

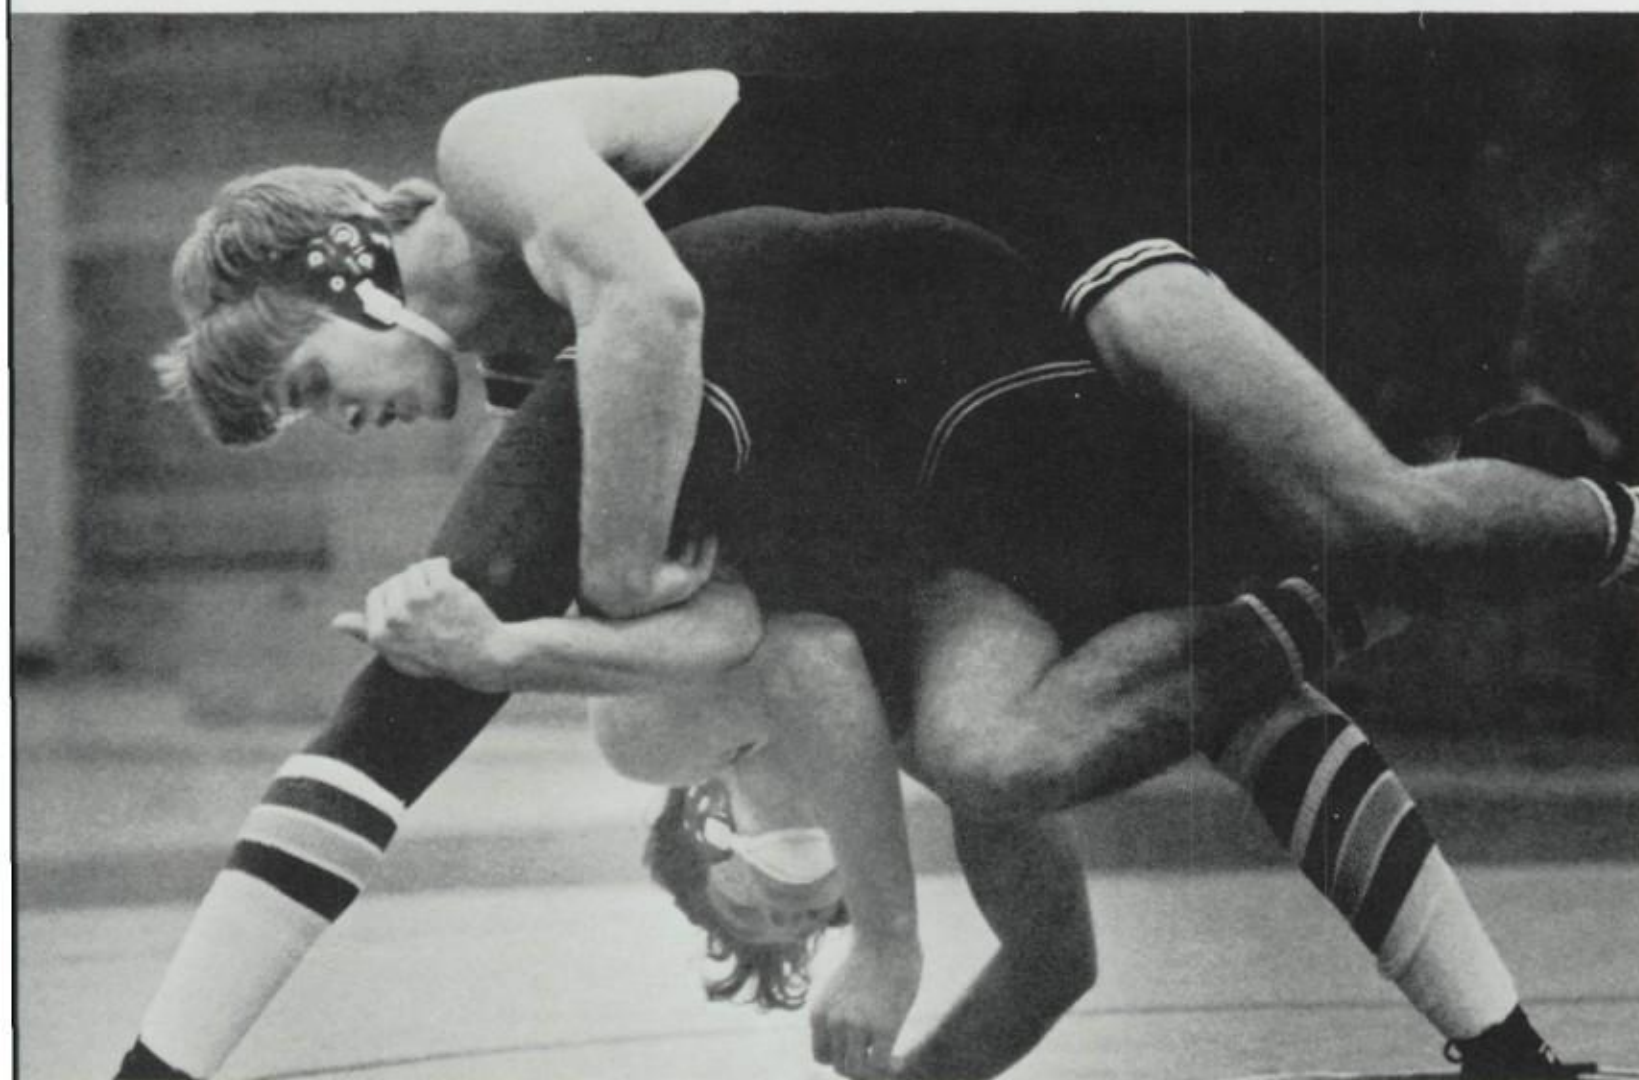

Turlock's Junior Varsity wrestling team continued its dominance over Central California Conference grapplers by picking up their fourth consecutive championship. By going through the entire season without a loss in a dual meet, the Bulldogs had yet to be beaten in three in a half years.

The JV, headed by coach Wayne Hinds, really never had a close meet as they outclassed all opponents. "All the wrestlers contributed to the championship year with their presence in the wrestling room, as they really made each other work extra hard," stated head coach LeRoy Evans.

Starters want wins

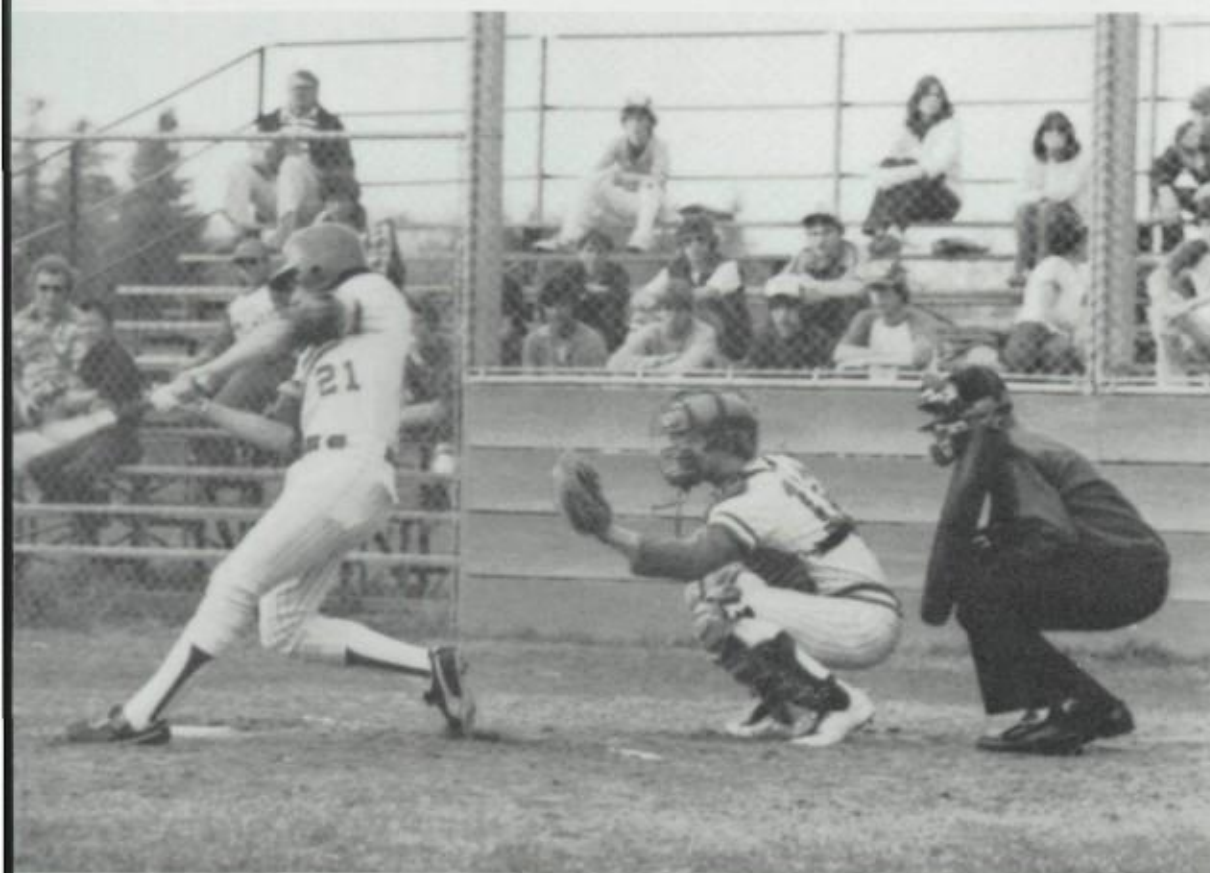

"We anticipate having one of the best seasons in years," stated varsity softball coach Jane Lazich. Strengthened by returning starters, THS girls softball aimed at the #1 spot in CCC. Returners included Mary Marson (shortstop), Olga Armendariz (pitcher), Carla Kinsley (catcher), Denise Gray (first base), and Denise Green (second base). When asked why the team felt confident about a successful season, second baseman Denise Green claimed, "Well, we've played together for four years, so we'd better be good."

"We are going to be a running team," summed up coach Rene Lindberg. Anticipating a tough season (Atwater, Merced), frosh-soph girls softball expected support from returners Lynette Matthews (first base), Kat Ellis (shortstop), Angela Porras (second base), and Annette Manchester (pitcher). Promising a strong bench as well as good speed at the basepaths, coach Rene Lindberg concluded "We'll take one game at a time and do the best we can!"

THS sluggers face tough league

"This is the toughest league that we've played in the last five years," stated head coach Atch Pedretti.

With the new three team format installed by CCC, (three teams slugging it out for number one as opposed to the previous one or two) 1981 Dogs anticipated fierce competition from Beyer, Davis, Merced, and Atwater. Good performances were expected from senior pitchers Dennis Gray, Kenny King, Jesse Godinez; as well as junior pitchers Kevin Moore and Norm Copeland.

Leading the strong Turlock infield were catcher Jerry Ragsdale, first-baseman Brian Machado, second baseman Ronnie Gomes, third baseman Ricky Salazar, and shortstop Jeff Trussler. Patrolling the outfield were Craig Carlberg and Larry Hudson.

"Baseball made it a lot easier to go to school," commented senior pitcher Kenny King.

JV/Frosh baseball face bright future

"The coach really pulls us together," claimed JV player Brian Young. Both JV and frosh teams, headed by coaches Ben Culala and Mark de la Motte respectively, expressed great optimism toward the 1981 baseball season.

"We have a couple of good ball players out there. If we can eliminate the mental mistakes, we should be all right," stated sophomore mentor Culala. Jamie Trujillo, coming off a strong freshmen campaign, was expected to handle most of the pitching load. "Jamie really is the only experienced pitcher we have this year," remarked Culala.

The freshmen nine anticipated counting on the hard hitting of Rich Lucas and Terry Vessel's hurling. Predominate attitudes of both teams were simply put by soph coach Lee Wisdom: "We want to win!"

Gymnasts compete

"I find gymnastics an exciting and challenging sport," Solange Salaberry stated enthusiastically. At THS, gymnastic interests have increased among students. With daily workouts and long practices, both teams hoped to finish the season high in the ranks. Varsity team strong members included Katie Lyons and Solange Sallaberry, bars; Leslie Nelson and Teresa Soderquist, floor; and Loren Martin, beam. Boosting the JV team were Julie Volk and Janice Gillispie, floor; Dawn Dompling, bars; and Tanya Hagiwara, beam. Coaches Mike Nelson and Sami Nelson expressed mutual confidence:

"Their (the teams) attitudes have been very positive! They are a young team looking toward a bright future."

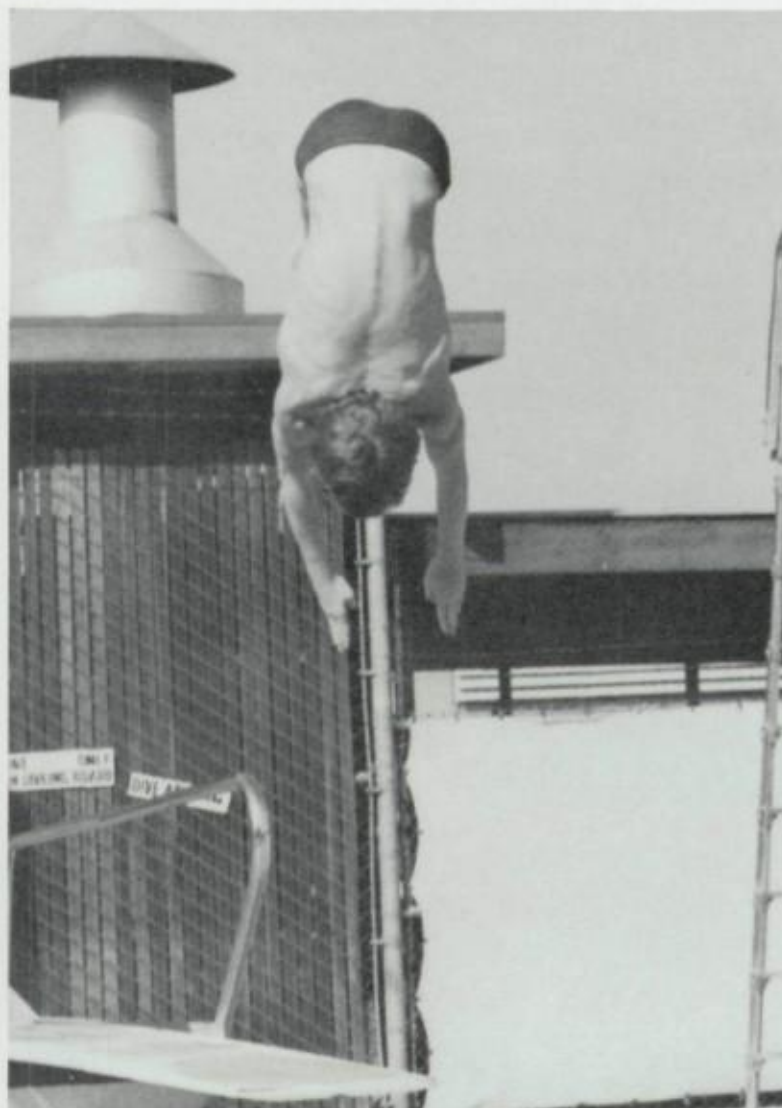

Bullfrogs place in top two CCC rank

"The 1981 swimming team was one of the strongest varsity boys' teams ever," exclaimed head coach Steve Feaver. Merced was the only strong team in the conference. The Bullfrogs placed in the top three seats in Sections and were in the top two in CCC record. Leading the way were seniors David Andrew and Bob Weaver, along with junior Darryl Bettencourt, and sophs Bryan McCormack, Paul Maurer and Paul McIlroy. Diving standout Blake Berry left THS with an undefeated four-year record in league, and won the CCC meet three years. He unfortunately, was unable to compete in 1980 because of chicken pox. Berry also placed in the top 5 in Section Competition, a first in his sophomore year. Carlos Perales also aided pointwise to the THS water men.

Mermaids get new coach; expect wins

THS girl swimmers suffered two setbacks during 1981 season. First, they lost coach Bill Thomason (replaced by head coach Steve Feaver). Secondly, they lost the depth necessary for winning the past championships. "Although we were less in number, we still had top qualifying girls, and everybody did their part in the season" pointed out senior co-captain Sonja Sondeno. The THS mermaids were led by Sondeno, junior Allison Yotsuya, sophomore Pam Thomas, Laurie McKibbin, and freshman Cindy Jones. The divers; Emma Perales (the only THS girl diver to place in sections), Kristen Brock, and Kathy Hanson, added needed points.

As most sophomores were moved to varsity, the frosh/soph frogmen felt the loss in their record. Freshmen David Hilton and Jim Thomas, after recovering from a broken arm, were the mainstays of the team.

Track gains new coach; anticipates strong finish

Guided by new head coach "Spike" Hensley, 1981 THS track team began the season with a running start. Hensley anticipated a strong finish in the mile relay, and described the team as having good spirit: "They all work hard and together."

Mainstays for the team included Gary Woods, hurdles and 440; Rory White, mile and two mile; Sam Brushia, Tim Stevens, and Dennis Sneed, distance; Robby White and Chris Bozzo, 440; and John Shoobridge and John Heim, sprints. Concluded Robby White: "We've put in a lot of hard hours in practices (and done a lot of sweating), so we should do exceptionally well."

"The outlook for this year is good...last year we came in second...and there's a chance we can get even better," pointed out head girls track coach Dee Steeley. "Our strongest members are Debbie Dixon, Tracee Farlinger, and Kirsten Cross in sprints; Marie Fletcher and Debbie DeKasha, distance; Teresa Misso, high jump; Allison Loveland and Kim Stitt, weights; and Teri Willis, hurdle and long jump." Summed up Teri Willis: "We'll do great, because we have a great coach and every girl on the team is a hard worker-no skimping!"

Tennis/Golf hope, work for success

With Mike Strand, John George, and David Anderson leading the charge, the Bulldog squad looked forward to a very successful season.

"I really am looking forward to league. I feel we will give Beyer a run for their money." (C.C.C. Champions) expressed junior Mike Strand. Bulldog mentor Milt Raugust added, "This season is going to be a very inexperienced one, but with everyone practicing after school it should pay off." The dog tennis team also had hopes for a championship, largely due to four returning seniors; Dennis Ow, Marty Miller, Lupe Amesquita, and Greg Dudley. Mrs. Dora Boomer head of the Bulldog tennis crew expressed, "Boys' tennis is increasing in popularity because boys are finding out its a life time sport."

AFS'ers experience new environments

"My graduation class in Argentine was only twenty-four people-this year it will be nearly four hundred!" Explaining the differences between Turlock and Argentine school, AFS student John Shoobridge stated that at THS, "even studying has been fun." Shoobridge especially enjoyed sports at THS, playing football, soccer and track. He anticipated the return trip home where he could play rugby and "graduate from high school for the second time!"

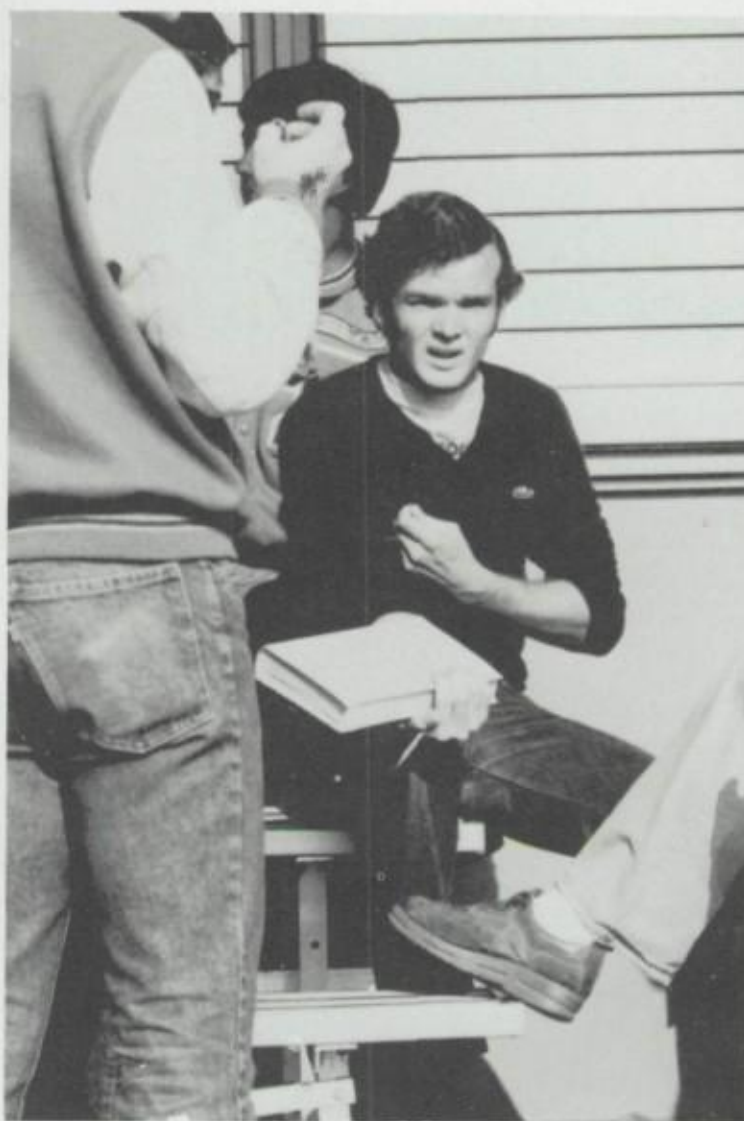

In 1980, THS had two foreign exchange students: Kathy Maurer spent her summer in Turkey, while Sally Channing stayed in Japan. Although Maurer found many differences in Turkish culture, she did find one surprising similarity; "Kids in the city of Onkara go cruising at night just like here."

During her stay in Japan, Channing noted that, "The country is non-violent, and there is no emotion shown, ever. Even in the home nobody ever shows affection."

THS varsity teams select winter queen

Topping off Hat Day, the Winter Sports Queen Coronation was held, presenting THS with a new and very excited queen, Sandy Escobar. Nominated and elected by the combined vote of basketball and wrestling teams, Miss Escobar was one of the ten candidates. Nominees included Kristen Brock, Celia Frahm, Jerilyn George, Denise Gray, Denise Green, Sonja Sondeno, Danette Wilkey, Rhonda Wright and Pam Yettman, with Rhonda Wright chosen as first attendant and Pam Yettman as second. Concluded the new queen, "It was a great surprise! I'm glad I had the honor to be crowned Winter Sports Queen."

R.O.P. waits tables, seniors get credits

Once upon a time students paid their way through school by waiting on tables. Times have changed! Through ROP food services, students can wait on tables in school, earning both cash and credits. Seniors such as Becky Volk appreciated R.O.P.'S practicality. "We learn about cooking, waiting on tables, and cleaning up." Still others found people more important than the class, as one student claimed, "I like the girls in this class."

Opening its doors to students for the first time, the Bulldog Lair waiters and waitresses were asked which customers were preferred. "Students!" exclaimed senior Troy Canada. -"You can't joke around with teachers like you do with the kids." Canada admitted, however, that when it came to giving tips, students and faculty gave the same amount - "Nothing!"

Seniors drafting to prepare for future

Why take drafting? "It's one of the best classes you can take if you plan on being an engineer," claimed Kevin Ferros. Drafting, always popular among T.H.S. males, added senior Hawley Snelling to the class list. The only female enrolled. "Being the only girl in drafting has its advantages; I get a little more attention than some. But it sure is fun!" expressed Snelling.

According to Alert interviewers, the male drafters liked the addition, but felt that females received unfair advantages.

Seniors remember T.H.S. friendships

Senioritis set in quickly here at THS, right around the second week of September. However, as graduation loomed nearer, the seniors found it difficult to say, probably for the last time, "Good-bye." The excitement of graduation dwindled when seniors realized they were going to lose some of their close friends they had been with for four years. Senior class yell leader Dana Christensen summed it up saying, "It will be fun going to college, meeting new people, and being in a different environment, but it will never be the same as the friends I've had at THS." Kevin Thomas added, "I've gotten to know really neat people through the last four years, and I'm sure I'll remember them in the future."

Wapolos honored with trip to Nat'ls

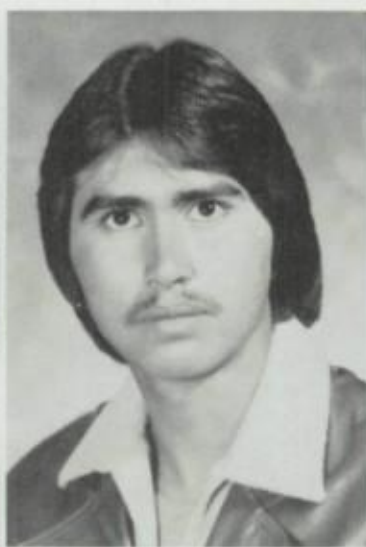

"This is really a big honor for me; no one in Turlock has ever made a National Waterpolo team before," commented the talented Sonja Sondeno. After a week of four hour-a-day tryouts and training, Sondeno was selected on the U.S.A. Junior National Women's Waterpolo Team. The "blonde bomber" practiced in L.A. before leaving to compete in the Canadian Winter Sports Festival in Quebec City.

THS varsity waterpolo player David Andrew was also honored with a Junior National tryout invitation. Picked in the top fifteen of the Northern California players, he then competed for the "A" team that would be playing in Spain.

Senior section staff struggles

As students walked passed the Alert class, voices in the background could be heard moaning, "We're not going to meet the deadline, there's just too much to do in so little time!" Most moans came from Denise Gray, Denise Green, Mary Gilron, and Sonja Sondeno, Alert staff members in charge of senior section.

As the deadline grew nearer, weekend workshops and late nights at THS were not uncommon among the senior Alertos. Mary Giron stated, "Although we spent a lot of time working, it really didn't matter to me. Putting it together was something special." Concluded senior editor Rhonda Wright, "Even though it took some time and effort to correct all the pages of the senior section, it was worth working on it to make it look good for my class."

Hoopsters play well for winning teams

"Basketball is my favorite sport; it takes a lot of hard practice, but it's worth it," commented girls' varsity basketball star, Kris Menzel. Girls' basketball meant a great deal to the 1980-81 team. The girls practiced up to three hours a day, four days a week. People might say, "Oh - girls' basketball practice; that's a piece of cake." Wrong! Feminine hoopsters did both offensive and defensive drills and had more than a little sharp shooting practice.

At this writing, THS boys' basketball were well on their way toward a second CCC Championship, a fitting pay off for all their diligent work. Senior athlete Dennis Gray expressed, "It was really great playing basketball all through high school, especially when we took the 1980 CCC. I hope we do it again!"

Is it a nightmare, or only Halloween?

Trying to match costumes with hidden personalities, THS seniors revealed a side few people ever see. As usual, Halloween Day provided an opportunity to put together a unique outfit, and many students took advantage of it.

Senior Becki Volk commented, "I dressed up on Halloween as a punk rocker for two reasons. I wanted to let students see how wild this fad really is, and to see if any of my friends could recognize me, and you know what? They didn't!"

Seniors look for part-time jobs

Did you ever wonder how you were going to earn extra money? Well, most seniors solved this problem by getting part-time jobs. It gave them an opportunity to earn money for their present or future plans. "I got a job to earn money so that I will be able to attend college," commented Craig Carlberg.

Some seniors went through the Career Center's Work Experience Program, which enabled students to receive credits while holding a job during school. Senior Debbie Baker concluded, "I got a job because it gave me something to do while getting credits and money."

Hometown talent succeeds in rodeo

"I would like to pursue a career in horse training, and some day be Miss Rodeo America," expressed award winning Danette Wilkey. For the past several years Wilkey has won many awards in barrel racing, goat tying, pole bending and cutting. She has also won many queen titles, including Miss California State Horseman Association for 1981. As Miss CSHA, Cowgirl Wilkey was invited to the Cow Palace for a grand entry. Aside from giving training and riding lessons, Miss Wilkey was also a football cheerleader for three years.

Seniors think of their future plans

Private? U.C. systems? State schools? Or vocational? What questions! Confusion prevailed among seniors' brains as all asked questions about the future. "What am I going to do when I graduate? Will I go to school? Which one? Do I have the grades to get there? Who'll give me the money to go? Some seniors solved the perplexing problem of the future by ignoring it. One senior said, "I'll worry about that if and when I ever graduate!" Kris Menzel finally found a solution. "I think I'll draw one out of a hat, or play basketball the rest of my life."

Seniors inhale food during brunch/lunch

"I really enjoy eating, I put much effort into it, and it does a lot of good for healthy body," commented weightlifter Mike Johnson.

Seniors strive, but suffer loss

At the sound of the gun, the annual powderpuff game was underway. "It was a lot more fun playing this year because we were playing against our friends not our enemies. We had a better coaching staff this year compared to last year," commented fellow senior powderpuff players. Though missing a close win with an 8-6 score, seniors felt that the 1980 game had a friendlier atmosphere. Jesse Godines powderpuff coach concluded, "We could have played better but we weren't dedicated enough. Juniors played a good game."

Grammar, history drilled into juniors

Nouns, pronouns, adjectives, adverbs, conjunctions, prepositional phrases, and verbs; all were sometime or another drilled into juniors heads during their English classes this year. "I really think I had enough grammar this year to last my entire lifetime," stated Jeff Barker.

In contrast, while the junior history classes had the same format; note taking, tests, films and term-papers, the courses ranged from survey classes to mini-courses, to U.S. History. "I'm really glad I took the mini-courses because they were interesting and were also college prep classes," exclaimed Laura Walker.

Juniors overpower seniors; 10-6 win

It was a night the class of '82 would never forget. Led by tailback Kirsten Cross, the junior powderpuff team surprised the senior team with a 10-6 victory.

After watching senior running back Eva Mattos sprint thirty yards for a touchdown, (giving the senior team an early 6-0 lead), the junior defense totally dismantled the senior offense for the rest of the game. Narrowing the gap to 6-2 with a safety, tailback Kirsten Cross exploded 75-yards behind fullback Tracee Farlinger's lead block, to give the juniors a 10-6 halftime lead. The stingy junior defense held the high powered senior offense scoreless in the second half for the victory.

Unexpected guests visit THS campus

The THS juniors stayed away from the traditional monsters, clowns, and ghosts, and changed to their own original costumes by showing up on Halloween Day as enthusiastic, crazy punk rockers, rats, and a seven-foot tall married couple. THS student Ralph Gonzales remarked, "There were so many rats that I had to call an exterminator."

While the exterminators roamed THS campus, the San Diego Zoo was on its way to pick up Chad Lackey. Why? Because for some reason, he looked like a big bear; another typical student at THS on Halloween Day.

Juniors strengthen, bolster pre-season

While Turlock High's football team had a disappointing season, the other teams at THS showed great promise from the very beginning.

Early in the season, the wrestling team pinned opponents with ease. The basketball hoopsters were off to another great start in the 1981 season, hoping to defend their championship crown. THS soccer team pre-surprised fans by being in the thick of the Central California Conference, while as early as December, the baseball team proved to be a talented group.

Upperclassmen work to meet expenses

Finally becoming upperclassmen, juniors experienced the responsibilities of driving, and for many, a part time job. The excitement of getting a driver's license soon faded as juniors paid their first gas bill. In order to meet rising costs, juniors worked at fast food places, clothing stores, and hoped for raises.

Socializing at THS

When asked, "What do you do during brunch and lunch?", THS juniors responded mainly, "I just hang around." Girl and guy watching, wandering from English to history, or talking with friends are all part of hangin' around. Junior Linda (Chach) Machado affirmed that socializing was a favorite pasttime stating, "I've always enjoyed talking! I've been doing it for about sixteen years now." "I really love it at lunch, I mean between watching the spits of tobacco, and the girls that go by, I really get fired up for my next class," stated Andrew Katakis.

Lunch improves

Many Turlock students just couldn't wait for lunch. Why? Because really it was the only time for the campus socializers to do what else, but socialize with fellow classmates.

Mr. Womble's new and improved lunch system kept line waiting to a minimum, and gave students more time to socialize outside of class, much to the delight of the faculty. "The new lines have made it easier for me to cut," stated Brad Triebsch.

THS sophs take Halloween first

Ghosts haunted the halls. The grapes from the Fruit of the Loom decal just sauntered by. People were living out their fantasies in these strange costumes; it must be Halloween.

"Student participation was great," explained Janice Gillispie. "The sophomore student body helped greatly; we couldn't have done our job without them."

Sophs sustain JV

Sophomore talents aided the girls' junior varsity basketball team in a successful pre-season. Offensive players Heather Guy and Kathy Cusenza contributed skills, while Lynette Matthews and Mary Silva bolstered the defense. Sophomores were enthusiastic and confident at the outset of the season. Stated Cusenza, "We've gotten the year off to a great start. Winning practically all of our pre-season games motivated us to go even further."

Mini-courses assist sophs with conflicts

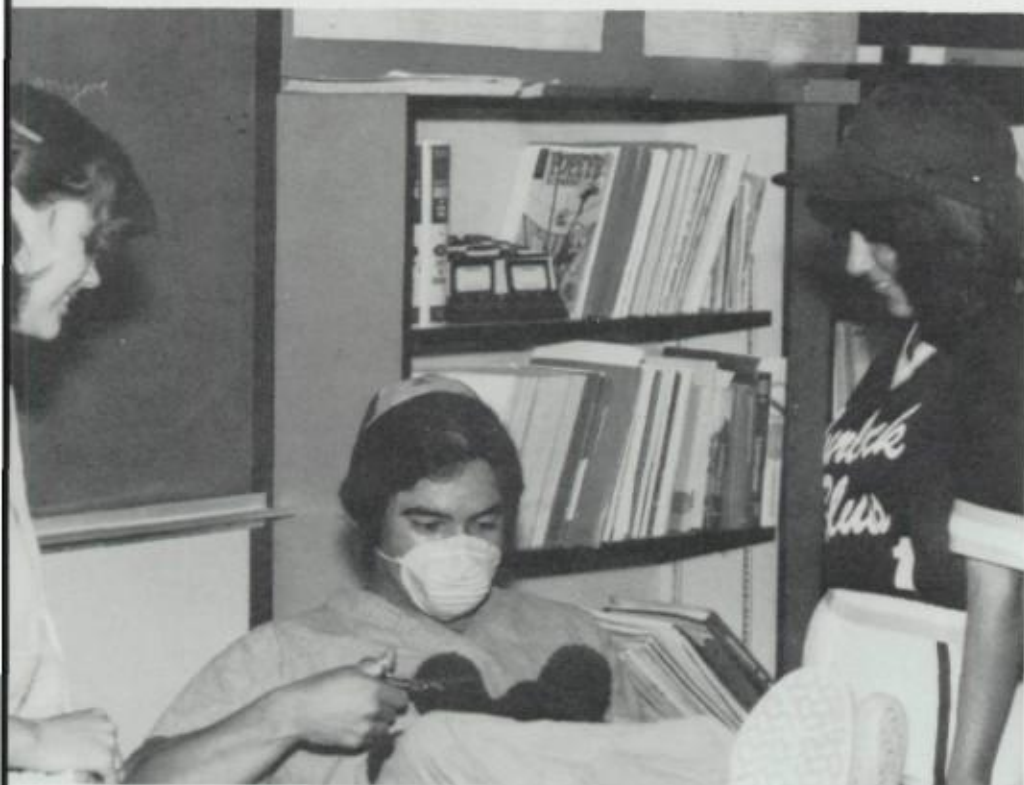

Helping young people to set and achieve goals, THS mini-course newcomer Valdec—"Personal Values and Goals and Career Decisions"—enjoyed its second year of existence. Despite the fact it was a required class, students enjoyed it, liking the information it gave them. Larry Hanson commented on Careers saying, "It gives you an over-all perspective of future opportunities."

Elizabeth Tyler, VALDEC Coordinator, stated, "Goals are important to all of us, and to young people, who are so easily bored, goals are essential. We believe that many young people turn to drugs when they have no direction in life. We are attempting to help these young people to find out who they are and where they are headed."

Computers enhance

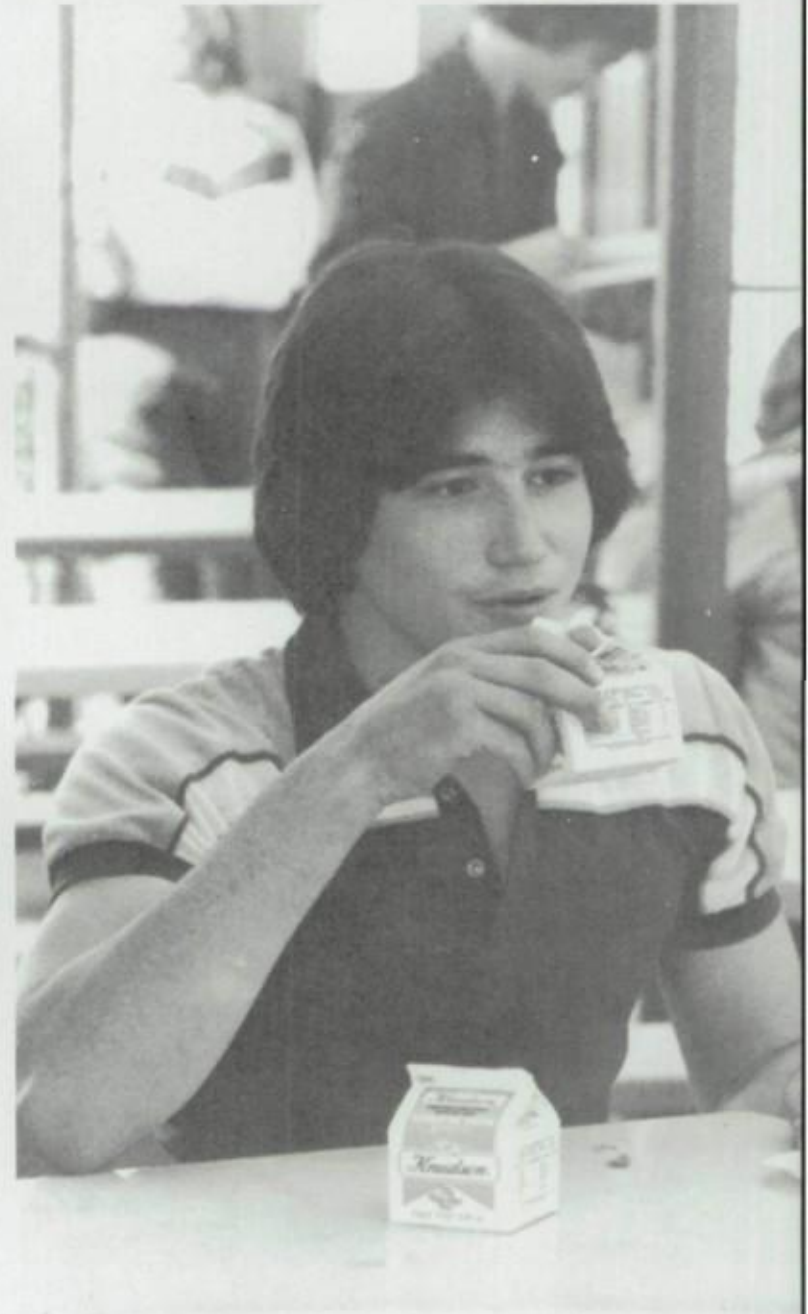

When computer games began beating out pinball machines at Straw Hat, people realized that something was up. At THS, student interest in computer programming and games increased during the 1980-81 school year. The computers, first purchased to help math students grab the basics, also provided THS'ers with free fun (Dungeons and Dragons), and an opportunity to learn computer programming. Commented soph Paul Maurer, "I'd like to learn how to program, but mainly I just go in there to play games."

"Biology is basic and down to earth," stated John Aubert. Amidst the smell of formaldehyde, and the sight of dissected pigs, THS sophs discovered that biology was more than just lab assignments and lectures on cell reproduction. "What we learn are things that happen every day, but we're just not aware of it," concluded Aubert.

Photogs experience pains with subjects

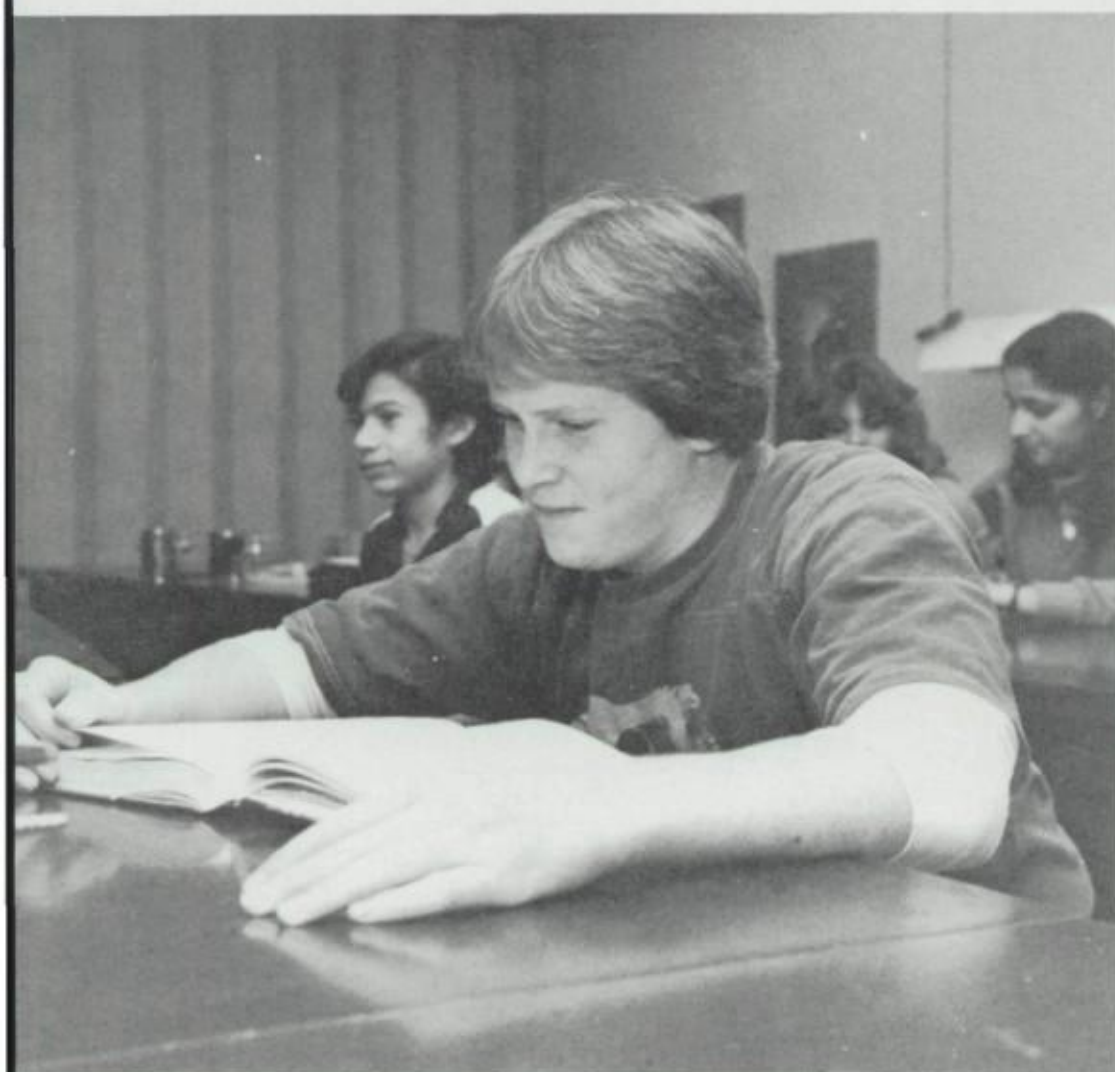

"Go out and get some candid of people studying!" The command is given; grabbing camera and student pass, the Alert photographer is on his or her way.

Taking pictures presented problems and rewards for cameramen. Entering a room inconspicuously became a near impossibility as students cried, "Don't take my picture!" or yelled, "Hey Al! I'm over here!" Even the hope of getting a picture in the yearbook didn't take away the embarrassment. One Alert target, Mary Stephens admitted, "I was nervous, but I'll get over it."

Freshmen spirit starts low, builds

New to THS, the class of '84 initially seemed nervous and hesitant about showing school spirit. Low frosh attendance at rallies explained the apparent lack of enthusiasm. Freshman Scott Neely felt that, "We need more than just four cheerleaders." Concluded Rendy Olesen, "I really enjoy cheering but everybody's just a little scared." During Homecoming, the freshmen showed their spirit by placing third in the float competition, and later, delighting football fans with an impressive third-ranked CCC team.

Generally, girls seemed to turn out for rallies more than boys. Explaining this somewhat sexist phenomena, one THS'er remarked, "Guys have to practice after school; they can't come to rallies!" Rumor had it however, that freshmen males avoided rallies (and seniors) for the sake of personal safety.

English: getting back to basics

This year freshmen took reading courses instead of the traditional world history class. In these courses the bases of reading and writing were stressed more than in the past. While some have appreciated this emphasis, others such as Steve Cole found it less interesting, "Classes are boring. What a drag." But overall the transition has met with favorable reactions. Freshman English teacher Ames Countryman commented, "The freshmen were motivated and have made the adjustment from junior high very adequately, with few casualties."

Although the crowds were small, determination and dedication still existed among the freshmen basketball players. Due to cutbacks, frosh cagers were denied many non-league games, but the team's spirited participation gave them a successful season. Freshmen enjoy variety at lunch

While older and wiser upperclassmen complimented or complained about cafeteria food, THS frosh appreciated their newfound freedom. Accustomed to the confines of a lunch room, and a limited food selection, freshmen enjoyed wandering around during breaks and buying snacks. Julie Sheets found that she liked, "the freedom of choosing where and what I want to eat." Lunch time proved to be a favorite time to talk, while Elssy Eivaze discovered that brunch was the perfect time to "grab a doughnut and milk to munch between classes."

Class of '84 works for requirements

In efforts to meet THS and college requirements, the class of 1984 filled English and foreign language classes to capacity. While some daring frosh enrolled in the newly formed Latin class, ("I'm learning the same stuff in there that I'm learning in English!" claimed Katrina Clark) many decided to take the traditional language classes. Julie Whitaker, first year French student stated, "I'm taking French not only because I need it for college, but because I really like the class itself. I also think it's an advantage ... in case I run into a Frenchman."

THS'ers reveal places to study

When Alert staffer asked THS freshmen where they studied, the overwhelming response was, "I don't! I'm too busy running from upper classman!" Others admitted that a favorite place was "outside in front waiting for my mom to pick me up." Still others said, "On the bus! I always do my homework then because I hate doing it at home." Despite these unusual places, Alert photographers managed to capture frosh students studying in typical places, even in the library.

THS frosh smile, survive the year

Being a freshman at THS has traditionally been a painful process. 1981 seniors could still recall being forced to say the freshman motto, juniors remembered being pushed and shoved out of lunch lines, while sophomores felt relieved to be alive. Yet for all the struggle involved in adjusting to a new school, with new rules, (more than one freshman was amazed upon realizing, "Whaddya mean-the fourth tardy is detention?!") 1980-81 frosh survived the year. Many, even when approached by Alert photographer found something to smile about.

Diligence, surprise among expressions

In the classroom, by the locker, at a basketball game, even in the trees—expressions of many sorts mask peoples faces at T.H.S. Visages of diligence, delight, apathy, and surprise were just a few of the expressions that floated around campus.

Alert photographers followed the kidnapping of Pam Beasley's baby egg and the hostage's return. Beasley expressed relief, but then consternation as she unwittingly made it into an omelet. Despite these infrequent tragedies, many students remained calm and managed to day-dream a good deal of class time away.

What's goin' on— in and out of THS

"Oh man—don't give us homework!" This frequent complaint amidst THS'ers prompted Alert staffers to reflect upon what do students do—if not homework? Free time was spent in any number of ways; from talking on the phone, to bike riding, to pursuing future goals.

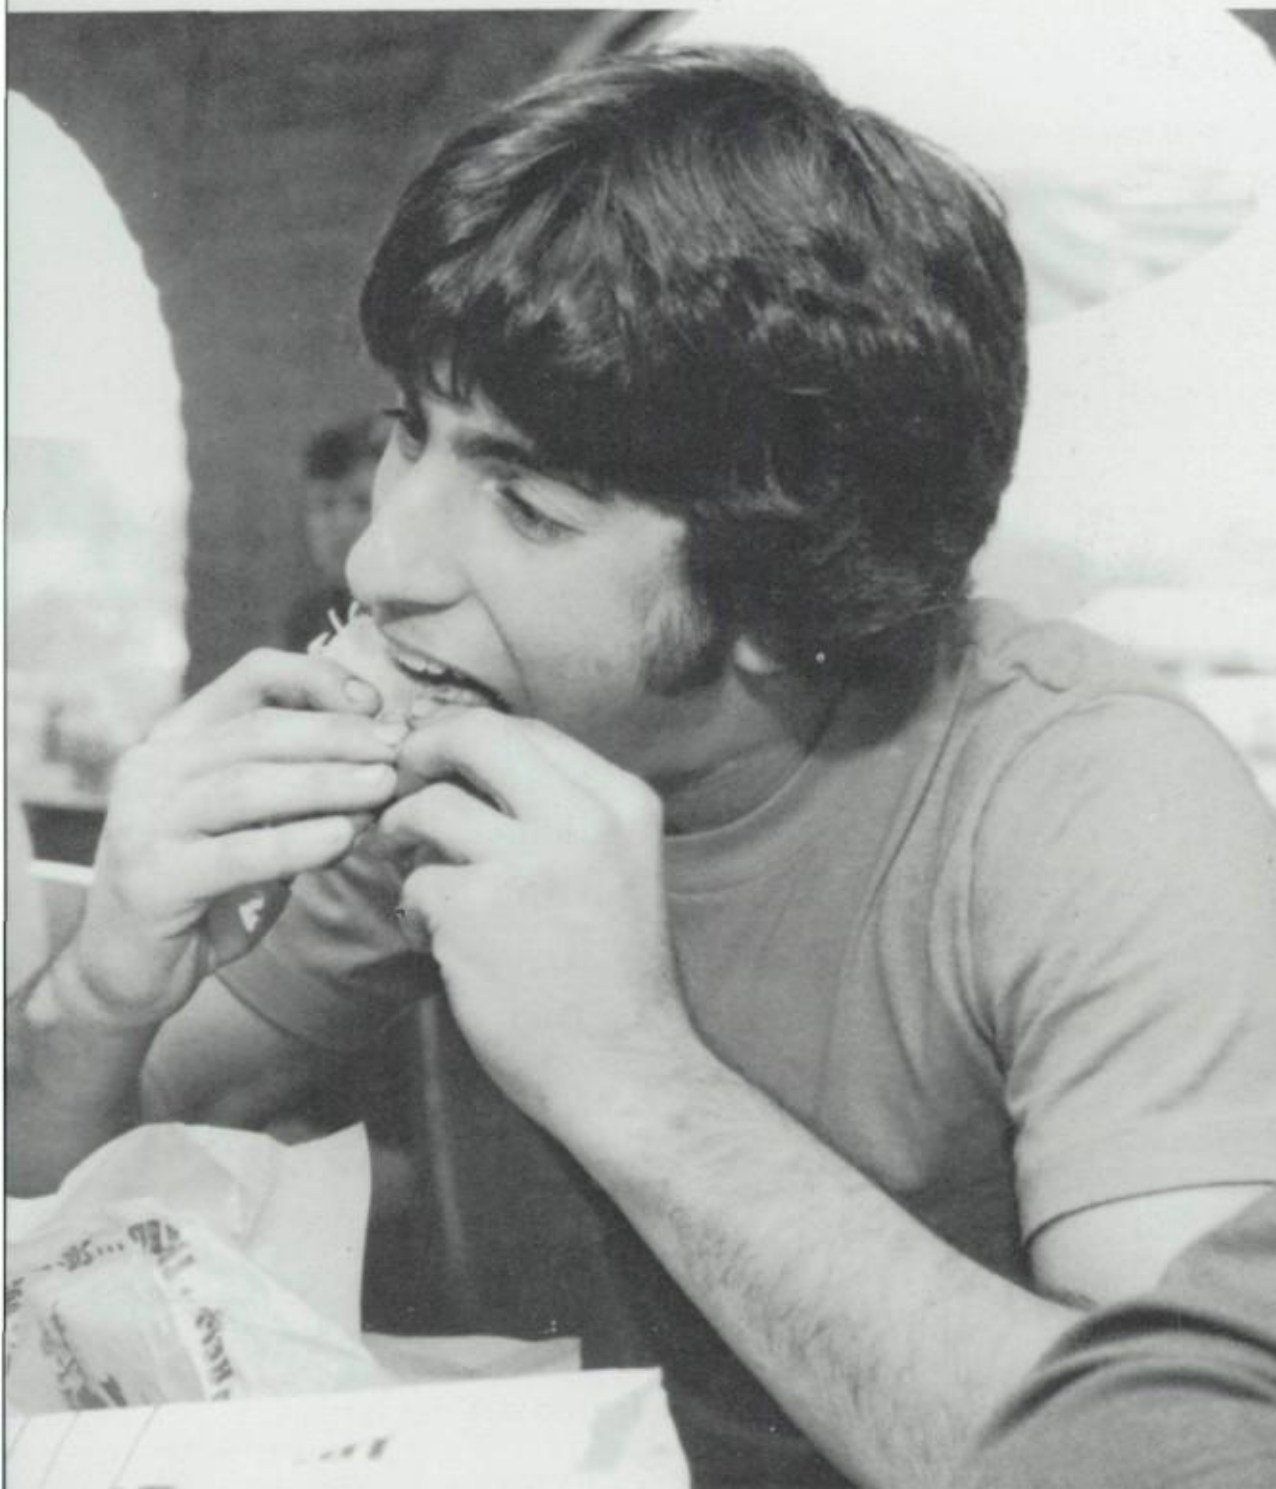

Junior Lupe Gutierrez continued using free time to pursue an ultimate career goal in professional boxing. Top ranked Gutierrez traveled to New Zealand where he placed first in the New Zealand Summer Games. Commented Gutierrez about his future: "The Olympics? Sure, I've thought about them!"

Students “munch down” fast foods

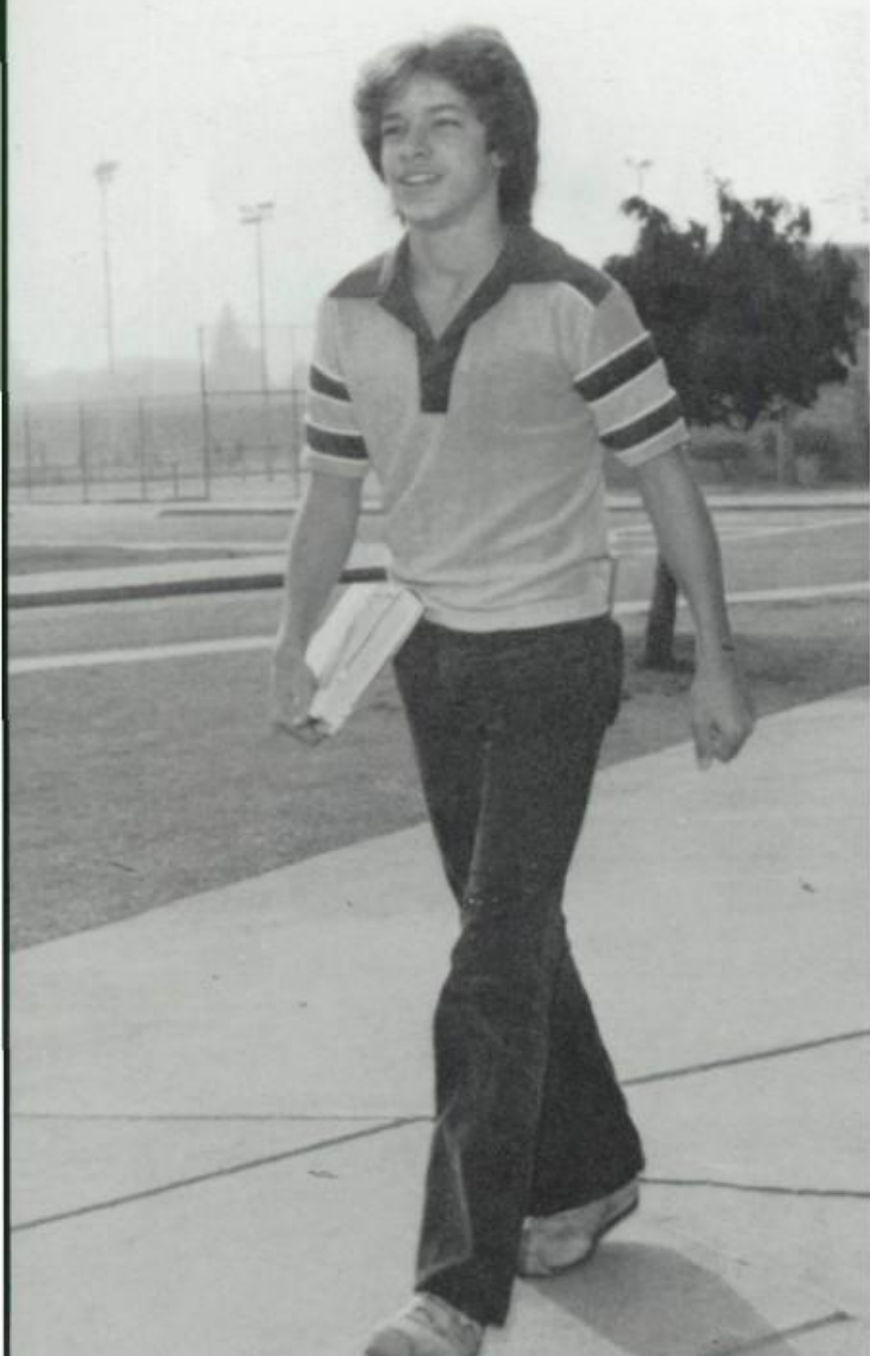

Remaining a favorite activity among THS students, eating ranked high on lists of things to do. Avoiding health food outlets, THS students preferred to frequent fast food stores. Unofficial polls placed Straw Hat and Fails Doughnuts as number one hangouts, with Taco Bell coming in at a close second.

Friday nights and pizza seemed to go hand in hand as THS'er Kate Smurr explained that eating pizza is “a good excuse to be messy, sloppy, and have a lot of fun.”

Conservative trends influence fashion

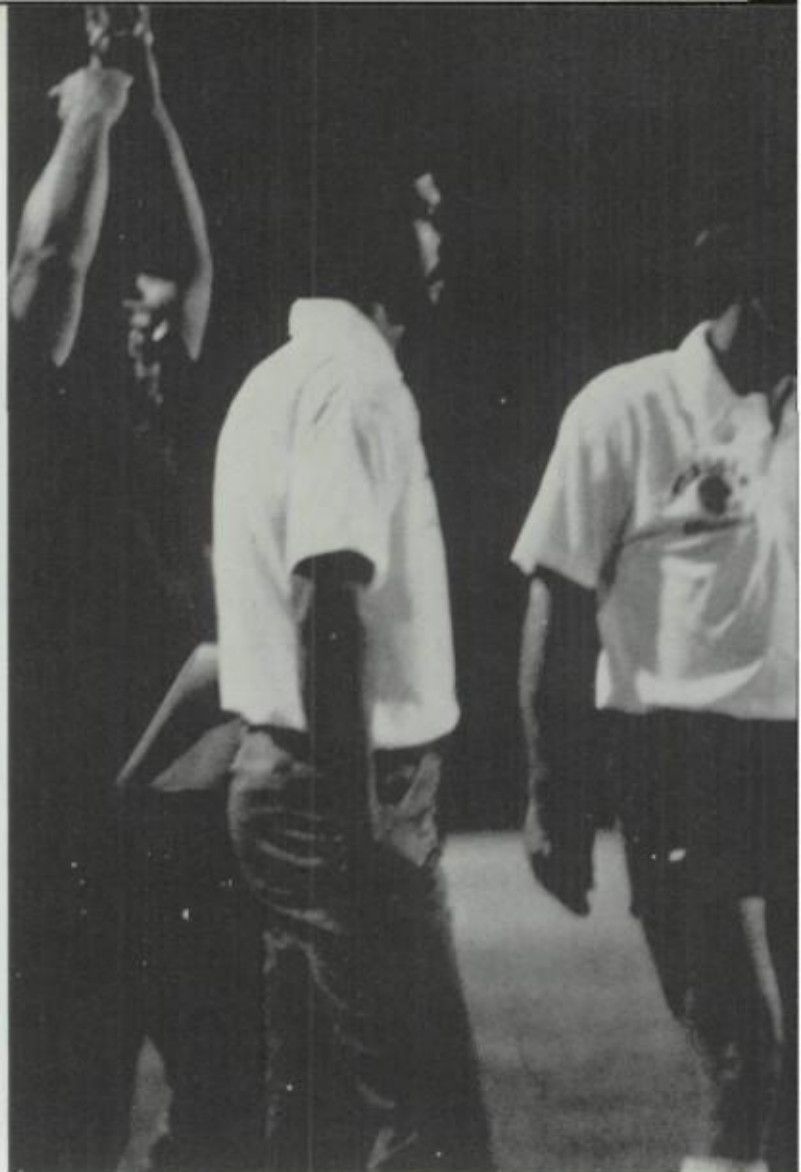

Conservative styles of dress code and universal trends influenced fashion at THS. The casual look; t-shirts, jeans, and suede oxfords still prevailed, both sported by girls and guys. Cherokees, a trend which emerged in the spring of 1980, and plaid skirts (a favorite classic) were worn by many girls around campus. The preppy look, with its aligator shirts and penny loafers, were worn by only a few, as THS'ers continued to prove that Levis were #1. Hats remained a favorite, particularly the cowboy hat, either adorned with feathers or left plain.

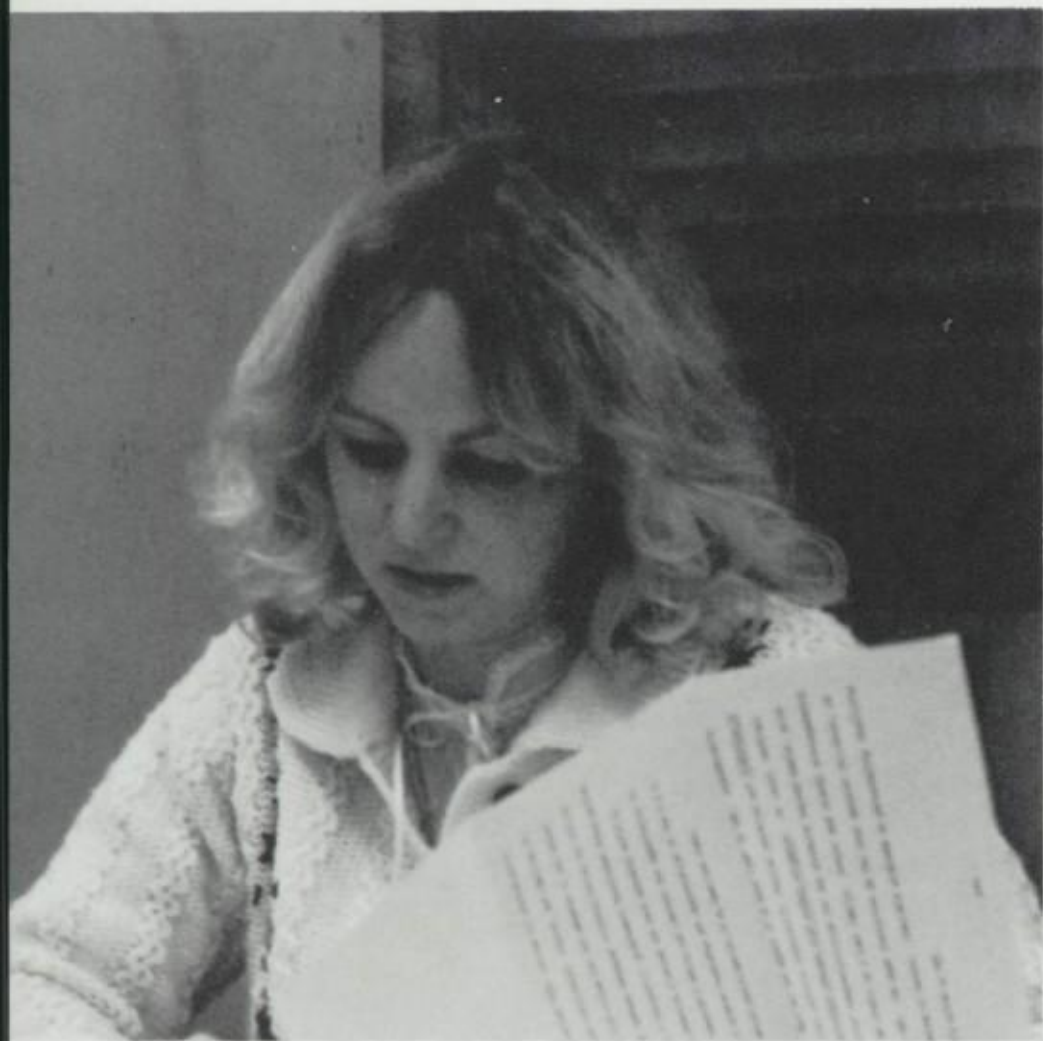

Sport cars or pick-ups were what students preferred for transportation. Some cruised Main in Datsun 280 Z's, while others stuck with McHenry Blvd, and a Trans Am. For many others, a good, reliable used pick-up sufficed, always with hopes of fixing it.

THS changes in staff and faculty

Numerous faculty changes occurred during 1981, with perhaps the biggest surprise being the resignation of superintendent George Gustafson to the Ukiah school district. Other reassignments included Evert Jones going to full time teaching, Sandra Jernigan instructing the Clarion, and Karen Finke taking over the Alert. Two new coaches were added to the staff: Mike Nelson, gymnastics, and Spike Hensley for track. Confirmed track team member Dennis Sneed, "Yeah, Mr. Hensley seems like a good guy! He's really working us hard."

BELOW: George Gustafson, attending Assyrian American club, listens with set expression. RIGHT: Clarion advisor Sandra Jernigan discusses writing.

Valley events

1980-81 local news confirmed an unhappy suspicion, that the big city problems of racism and violence were not limited to just the larger cities. The Klu Klux Klan's February rally in near by Ceres, stirred and upset the valley dwellers, with people again asking where to draw the line between free speech and racism.

The Turlock S.W.A.T. Team was called upon to make an appearance at New Deal Market and successfully rid the Turlock area of a vicious murderer. Many Turlockers expressed their patriotism by wrapping huge yellow ribbons around trees in honor of the 52 hostages who were returning to our country after 444 nightmarish days in Iran.

Remembering 1981

"The paper said, 'It was the worst of times.'"

1980-81 presented American with a chance for renewed optimism. Yellow ribbons fluttered everywhere, as the return of the 52 hostages from their 444-day captivity in Iran was perhaps the biggest news story of the year. Ronald Reagan dealt Jimmy Carter a crushing defeat in the Presidential election; at the same time, people avidly watched to discover who shot J.R. Ewing. Internationally, Reagan set a new tone by denouncing Iranian captors as "barbarians." The U.S.S.R. invaded and remained in Afghanistan, military advisors were sent to El Salvador, and Lech Walesa led his union forced in Poland. The Middle East remained uneasy, and Spain received a new government. On the homefront, FBI investigations with Abscam made Watergate seem obsolete. The cost of living kept going up, American car companies went bankrupt, and the Moral Majority hit Washington D.C.

Ted and Joan Kennedy forever dashed hopes of a return to Camelot in Washington D.C. with the announcement of their divorce. The impossible happened twice: Anita Bryant got a divorce, and Prince Charles got married to a 19-year-old kindergarten teacher. Col. Sanders and Mae West died, while the song was over with John Lennon's murder.

In the world of sports, Kansas City's third baseman George Brett caught the hearts of thousands as he flirted with the .400 batting average (.390). Muhammad Ali stepped into the ring once too often as Larry Holmes battered the former world champion. The Lakers, led by rookie sensation Magic Johnson, captured the NBA championship, while the Phillies took the World Series. The Oakland Raiders not only did not move to L.A., but managed to win handily the Super Bowl, letting Jim Plunkett live out a Cinderella rise to success, while Dan Pastorini watched from the bench.

In a year where hostages were returned, mountains erupted, budgets cut, and young men registered for the draft, many people were hard pressed to say whether this was truly the "worst of times" or the "best of times."

Looking back-what do you remember most?

"The lucky shot the Franklin basketball player made at the last home game."

Susan Andrew

"Getting accepted at U.C. Santa Barbara."

Theresa Rowen

"Nothing. It's been a boring year."

Ross Boren

"All the new friends I made."

Pam Greer

"Not being able to go out because of the gas situation."

Carole Hewitt

"Playing football!"

Steve Vilkofsky

"Getting radical with a crazy group, Phil's Phanatics."

Gary Woods

"Being embarrassed as the winner of the Phanatic's contest."

Matt Sadowski

"I'm free at last!"

Becky Tyler

Reflections-memories of the people, the places, the events. What more appropriate place to begin looking back and reflecting, than at the end of a book? Happy memories!

In Memoriam
Brian Michalec

"Since no man knows the future, who can tell him what is to come? No man has power over the wind to contain it . . ."

Ecclesiastes 8:7,8
